Future voters study election

After a semester of activities ranging from mock elections to meeting local politicians, many government students at Romulus High School are better acquainted with election issues than some voters, said teacher Rod Hanna.

Hanna, who teaches a class on state and local governments, said he is preparing his students to be responsible voters. First, he said, they must understand the issues.

The students have been supplied with two election ballots. One ballot was to be taken home and discussed with the students' parents. The other is used in the classroom. Every issue on that ballot has been discussed in class, said Hanna.

He has also discussed the philosophical differences between the two major parties and the 1988 party platforms with his students.

"Once they knew the issues and the philosophical differences between the two parties, they really took an active interest," Hanna said.

Students speak out

In a Romulus High School government class Monday, future voters voiced some opinions on current issues.

Students in Rod Hanna's third hour government class expressed concerns about election issues such as Romulus millage proposals, Medicaid-funded abortions, and gambling in Wayne County.

Senior Mike Cullen said abortions should not be funded by Medicaid. "I think the lady should get it (an abortion) if she pays for it," he said.

About half of the class thought Proposal A, which would end Medicaid-funded abortions in Michigan, would pass.

No one in the class, however, thought gambling in Wayne County would be approved by the voters.

"You've got crime going up...prostitution going up...," Cullen said, "adding gambling would only add to those problems."

The class also unanimously agreed that the millage proposals for Romulus

Extra district judge unlikely

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A third judge for the 34th District Court remains a long-term possibility.

Last year, members of the State Court Administration decided the district court was eligible for a third judge because of its caseload. In 1987, 34,328 were heard in the court, according to Nancy Schuette, court administrator.

Because cases were not backing up, and the district court does not have facilities for a third judge, court officials did not arrange for the addition.

Although court cases are not backed up now, Schuette said sooner or later the need for a third judge will surface, and the State Court Administration members will insist a third judge join the district court. "Our case load will be such that...they will say you will have a third judge," she said.

According to Schuette, the 34th District Court is the second busiest district court in western Wayne County, including those in Livonia, Redford, Westland, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Taylor, Woodhaven and Plymouth.

Nevertheless, the 34th District Court is without facilities for another judge, and court officials have not decided how to handle an addition.

One possibility is to enlarge the building. When the courthouse was built 10 years ago, room was left at the back of the property for two additional courtrooms.

Schuette declined to say when a third judge might join the district court, but said the addition will not be in the near future.

If a third judge is assigned to the district other arrangements might have to be made, such as having that judge use a courtroom in another district, yet still hear cases..

The 34th District Court serves for Romulus, Belleville, Huron Township, Sumpter Township, Van Buren Township, and Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Lack of funds prevent downtown revitalization

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Although revitalization of the downtown area remains a major concern for Romulus city officials, lack of funds are preventing major changes, said Dennis Oakes, Economic Development Director for the city.

The Downtown Development Authority (DDA) can use two methods to raise money. One option is a millage increase limited to 2 mills per year which would only supply an additional $8,000 to $9,000, said Oakes.

Another option is tax increment financing which means all tax revenue from new downtown development could be earmarked for the downtown area.

However, the likelihood of downtown development in the near future is slim, Oakes said.

These problems stem from the nature of downtown Romulus, Oakes added. The area is isolated and not within the area of new growth in the city.

In addition, "there simply is no land left," Oakes said, explaining that the downtown area is hemmed by residential development.

Some hope for the area comes from a recent report put out by the DDA which proposes a number of relatively low-cost improvements.

These proposals concentrate on improvements in administration, parking and the aesthetic appearance of the area.

Suggestions for administration improvement include making the DDA a priority code enforcement district, city codes such as keeping the area litter-free would be enforced. Also suggested is a regular marketing program for the area.

For improved parking, the report suggests a number of possibilities such as the reworking or sharing of existing lots.

> Economic development

Aesthetic improvements could be achieved by adding new building facades, an annual spring fix-up campaign, and a landscaping upgrade, according to the report.

Most of the proposals could be implemented in the near future, Oakes said.

Election issues reviewed for voters

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

With less than one week before election day, campaign momentum for local and state issues is on the incline.

State proposals on the ballot include the controversial Proposal A, which will halt Medicaid-funded abortions in Michigan, if passed.

Those who support the proposal claim our government cannot afford to pay $6 million for about 18,500 Medicaid-funded abortions performed annually.

Opponents say banning Medicaid-funded abortions could increase the number of children eligible for public assistance and result in much higher expenses for Michigan.

Receiving far less controversy is Proposal B, which would amend the constitution to increase crime victims' rights.

Among those rights would be notification of court proceedings and the right to attend trials, the right to confer with the prosecution, and the right to make a statement at sentencing.

Two final state proposals are concerned with the environment.

Proposal C would authorize the state to provide $660 million for environmental protection. Proposal D asks for $140 million for recreation projects.

Neither proposal would result in a tax increase if passed. Money to repay the bond obligations would come from a general fund.

On a local level, two millage proposals will be on the ballot for Romulus Community Schools.

The 1988-89 millage proposal requests a 4.5-mill tax increase for general school operations. Proposed for the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years is a 2-mill tax increase.

Officials from the Romulus Board of Education stress that the proposals would not mean a tax increase. Instead, money would be transferred from a debt fund into a general fund.

Toxic-stop tour to stop locally

A press conference and hearing area will be staged in the area, as part of an 80-country tour sponsored in part by the Public Interest Research Group in Michigan. PIRGIM members have traveled throughout the state, advocating a stepped-up effort to preserve the environment.

A press conference is set for 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in Hart Plaza, Detroit. The site overlooks the Detroit River, the second worst toxic site in Wayne County.

PIRGIM officials said they will release a report comparing Michigan toxic cleanup programs to those of other states during the conference.

A hearing and rally is also planned by PIRGIM and the POWER TEAM environmental group at 7 p.m. tomorrow. The event will be staged at the Van Buren Township municipal building, on Tyler Road, west of Belleville Road, Van Buren Township. Topic will be the policies of the Wayne Disposal landfill in that township.

The public has been invited to attend both events.

County student count declines

Results of the preliminary fourth Friday count in all Wayne County school districts Sept. 30 revealed a 1.9-percent decline in overall school enrollment, according to officials from the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Total count for all Wayne County school districts is 367,178 – a decline of 7,052 for the 1987 audited membership. Adult education programs showed the greatest variance in enrollment, with a 5-percent decline.

Total K-12 enrollment figures were down 1.7 percent compared to last year. In 1987, enrollment figures decreased 1.2 percent from 1986 figures.

New church is 'will be born'

A new church will "be born" at a 9 a.m. Sunday service, at the Plymouth-Canton High School Little Theater.

The new Westside Christian Church, sponsored by the Memorial Church of Christ, in Livonia, is the result of 10 months of preparation, church officials said. The Rev. Robert L. Girdwood joined the congregation in January and has helped organize the new facility.

The new church, officials said, will reflect the mid-stream of an undenominational movement begun in the early 1800s. The concept of Westside is to forget denominational differences and be free congregations of Christians.

"We like to think we are neither Protestant nor Catholic," Girdwood said, "just Christians."

An area rally to celebrate the new church will be staged at 3 p.m. in the Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium. A 100-voice choir will sing, and 1,000 people are expected to attend.

Impact of drought is forum topic

The summer drought will be addressed by A.C. Davanzo, assistant director of operations at the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department, at the 8 a.m. meeting of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments tomorrow.

The event will be staged at the Detroit Edison Co. conference room 120, 2000 Third Ave., Detroit.

The program is part of the "Dialogue at Daybreak" monthly series, sponsored by SEMCOG and Detroit Edison. Future programs include a look at housing in southeast Michigan Dec. 6 and an overview of national, state and regional economies Jan. 26.

Food contest is 'egg-citing'

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Things in Canton are going to be pretty egg-citing Nov. 7.

That's when the winners of a new food contest featuring eggs will be announced at Miesel/Sysco Food Service Company, 41600 Van Born Road.

The company is seeking recipes from area chefs and culinary arts students at Schoolcraft Community College, Oakland Community College and Wayne County Community College. Recipes, that is, in which eggs are the main ingredient.

The contest is called "In Search of Egg-Cellence."

"Our intent is to boost the image of the egg and to show its versatility," said Norma Bach of Miesel/Sysco. "The event was triggered by the National Egg Board out of Chicago," she continued. "For the whole month, our advertising will be geared toward egg promotion."

The chefs and students will submit their recipes by tomorrow, at which time a team of judges will choose three finalists.

The judging of the finalists will take place at the Miesel/Sysco facility in Canton, where chefs will prepare their recipes in a state-of-the-art kitchen.

Miesel/Sysco is a food service distributor serving hotels, restaurants and clubs.

Parvo cases close shelter

Disease has humane society personnel and area veterinarians on alert.

Kathy Blauet, director of the Westland Shelter of the Michigan Humane Society, said they have been extra careful when putting strays up for adoption because of an outbreak of parvo and distemper.

Parvo and distemper are causing more problems than usual for staff at the shelter and for family pets.

Parvo is a virus transmitted through animal feces. It can be deadly to humans.

Three times the usual number of parvo cases have been reported in Michigan this year, and experts are concerned about further spread of the disease.

Humans should be extra careful when cleaning the yard of animal wastes. While your own pet may be free from disease because of regular vaccinations, other animals may not be so healthy.

Distemper is a more common virus found in animals.

Campaign stop

He may not be well recognized as a contender for the seat in the White House, but Libertarian presidential candidate Ron Paul (above) is pursuing his campaign as if he were a leader in the polls. Paul visited the Detroit area Saturday, making a stop at the Holiday Inn, at Metro Airport, in Romulus. The presidential-hopeful spoke before a group of reporters and area residents, during a press conference.

Foundation pondered

A community foundation is a charitable organization which is tax exempt and which may act as a fundraising vehicle for the benefit of DDA and community projects.

Menlove told the DDA members that a community foundation can provide a readily identifiable image from which to attract contributions and centralize fundraising. Donations may be contributed by individuals or funds can be raised with special events or projects, he said. Special fundraising activities could include art sales, auctions, golf tournaments, festivals or community garage sales.

Committee members studying the proposal are DDA Member Barbara Miller, Belleville Mayor Glenn Silvenis, Jeff Jahr and Linda Hall.

DIGEST

Wick elementary presents Snoopy

The Romulus Recreation Department and Ann Arbor Schools will present The Peanuts Gang Goes Broadway next Wednesday.

A pizza dinner will be served at 6 p.m. at Wick Elementary School, and the play begins at 6:45.

Tickets are $3 and must be purchased from the Recreation Department by next Tuesday.

Yearbook publisher fired by board

After receiving a yearbook bill $2,255.06 too high because of bogus charges, Romulus Board of Education members fired the 1987/88 yearbook publisher, Hunter Publishing Company.

Two weeks ago Bill Knight of Romulus Community Schools reduced the final billing from $9,750.44 to $8,101.82 after deducting several charges he explained should not have been billed.

Dr. William Bedell then cut $596 charged for reprinted pages and recommended the school board pay $7,505.38. At that point, the publishing company was already terminated.

Police find stolen car

Early Saturday morning two Romulus police officers located a stolen 1984 Trans Am after the driver ran a stop sign at Henry Ruff and Van Born roads.

After chasing the suspects approximately one mile on westbound Van Born, the two occupants fled the car. They were caught after a half-mile chase on foot, according to officials of the Romulus Police Department.

One suspect, Thomas Adams, 21, of Inkster, was charged with concealing stolen property over $100. Bail was set at $3,000.

The other occupant of the car was a 15-year-old boy from Inkster. He was placed in the custody of juvenile authorities, officials said.

After-school program continues

The Romulus Recreation Department will continue the youth after-school program for the fall and winter months.

Third- and fourth-graders will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m. at Barth, Cory and Wicks schools, with Hayti, Merriman and Halecreek going from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m.

The $10 cost for the program covers the entire program, a T-shirt and transportation. Payment may be made on the first day of the program.

British farce comes to Romulus

The Romulus Drama Club is preparing its presentation of Phillip King's comedy See How They Run for a mid-November debut.

Billed to put Benny Hill and Monty Python to shame, the British farce will feature cockney maids, Russian spies, and secret identities.

Showtime will be November 19 at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m and November 20 at 3 p.m. Tickets will be $5 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and students.

Romulus youth wins contest

Justin Pitel of Merriman Elementary School is the winner of the regional Punt, Pass and Kick contest.

Pitel will now represent the City of Romulus in the 9-year-old age group at the Pontiac Silver Dome at the end of November.

Blood pressure checks planned

A nurse from Annapolis Hospital of Wayne will visit the Romulus Senior Center Monday to provide free blood pressure tests.

The nurse will be at the center from 1 to 3 p.m.

Romulus students pull together to help a friend

When an automobile accident left a Romulus High School senior in a coma for 10 days, his classmates continued to show how much they cared.

Students have raised approximately $200 for Richard Radford, who remains in serious condition after colliding with a semi-tractor trailor Oct. 15 in Van Buren Township. Radford was on his way to the Belleville Vocational School. The accident occurred at approximately 7:30 a.m. when Radford turned onto Huron River Drive from Haggerty Road and hit the truck broadside as it pulled out of Southwest Fabricating, according to Chief Joseph Davies of the Van Buren Township police department.

Radford was pinned under the truck and had to be removed from his car by rescue workers of the Van Buren Township Fire Department.

Radford was declared in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor later that morning and he remained in a coma for aproximately 10 days.

As of Monday, Radford was listed in serious condition, but he had come out of the coma.

Radford, whose mother is the personnel director for the City of Romulus, continues to receive supportive cards and telephone calls from friends, according to Radford's counselor, Al Wilkerson, who has visited Radford at the hospital several times.

Wilkerson said this tragedy has touched a number of people at the high school. "When kids get hurt it's like one of your own," he said.

Radford is starting to respond to people talking to him, Wilkerson added.

Chances of graduating in June still look good for Radford, Wilkerson said, describing the senior as an above average student who is outgoing and well-liked. He said Radford is in an autobody class in vocational school and is active in vocational clubs.

The many students who have offered support and money have not surprised Wilkerson. "Hopefully we teach all of our kids to look after one another," he said.

Holiday Inn bicyclists make trek to Troy for charity

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Not many people would get up at 8 a.m. on a chilly Sunday morning for a 42-mile bike ride.

Nevertheless, for a fundraising bike-a-thon six Holiday Inn-Detroit Metro Airport employees set out for Holiday Inn-Troy last week. Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally and Kim Carson of WCZY saw them off with a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

The bike-a-thon was a fundraiser for Give Kids the World, a non-profit organization which offers Florida vacations for terminally ill children.

Local sponsors pledged donations for the bikers who managed to complete the course. Five out of the six bikers succeeded.

Surpassing the original goal of raising $500, the bike-a-thon brought in approximately $1,500 according to Christa Quandt, director of sales for Holiday Inn-Detroit Metro Airport. The total goal per hotel is $2,000, which is raised through a number of activities. "I think we were getting a much better response from companies in the area than we thought we would," said Quandt. She added that 17 of the sponsors were Romulus-area businesses.

The bikers were also a motivated group. Although only two in the group are regular bikers, most of the participants reached Troy by noon, Quandt said.

The bikers were monitored closely and a checkpoint for food and water was set up every five miles along the course.

One biker, Gary Misczak, said he considered quitting at the halfway mark when his stomach cramped up, but he convinced himself to keep pedaling.

"It was great that it was for a cause. We just committed to finishing no matter what," said Misczak.

The idea for a bike-a-thon came from Misczak. During the past two years the hotel has sponsored bake sales and car washes to raise the $2,000 expected from each Holiday Inn.

"I like to ride. What better thing to do, not only raise money but do something I enjoy," said Misczak.

He added that he enjoyed the bike-a-thon, despite the cramps, and even experienced "bikers high." Misczak hopes the bike-a-thon becomes an annual event.

"There's no doubt in my mind. I'd do it again," he said.

schools would not be approved by voters. However, each student in the class favors the proposals which request a transfer of funds from a debt account to a general account.

Most voters still perceive the millage proposals as requests for tax increases, the students said. Several students said their parents do not understand the language of the proposals.

The class has spent time studying the millage proposals and the meanings of mills and property tax.

Speculation was also heard on Proposal B which increases victim rights in the Michigan Constitution. Most of the class thinks it will pass.

When discussing Proposals C and D which request an authorization of bonds for environmental protection and state and local recreation programs, half of the class thinks the proposals will pass.

Also discussed were the factors which are considered when electing an official.

When asked whether they would base a decision on the party of a candidate, every student said no. They agreed their decision would be based on the issues. Half of the students said their parents would probably vote party line though.

"I think a lot of the older generation is voting Republican because they don't want change," said Susie Kurzyniec, who added that most voters are secure with the present situation.

Some students said that voters might associate a political party with their economic status, Republicans being wealthy and Democrats not as well off.

Although the students are not old enough to vote, some said they have become active in the campaign.

Randy Rhoden said he felt he accomplished something by offering to help at a local party headquarters.

chance to show off their knowledge when a student teacher for the class, Linda Chudybowman, brought in two University of Michigan students to debate the election issues and answer questions.

"The speakers were surprised at how much the students knew," Hanna said.

State Representative William Ford has also spoken to the class, and future speakers include Dr. William Bedell, superintendent of Romulus schools, and Ed Wilkonson and Ken Berlin of the Romulus school board to discuss millage issues.

"Ninety percent of the government officials in this area have come in my room to speak to my seniors in the past 15 years or so," said Hanna.

Additional activities include a hands-on lesson on voting machines for the seniors. Two machines were brought into the school. "Every senior will go through and vote," said Hanna.

To further encourage future voting, every senior in the class is required to register to vote.

The students will not get their card until they turn 18, Hanna added.

For extra credit, the students are encouraged to offer their help at local party headquarters or attend Romulus school board meetings to obtain a better understanding of the issues.

Flag patrol named at North Middle

Several students have been selected as flag raisers and tenders at North Middle School, Belleville.

Those selected are Justin Alexander, Conan Baldwin, Sherry Combs, Michael Deaton, Geoffrey Hacker, Chad Harvey, Katina Jackson, Shoner Langford, Theresa McCarley, Bobby Newsome, Vivian Overholt, Rob Reinebach, Danielle Shipley, Robert Twigg and Lisa Wiegand.

Students test math skills

Recently, 113 Belleville High School students participated in part one of the Michigan Mathematics prize competition. Workshops for the students were staged after school three weeks prior to the October test. Last year, Belleville High School had a silver medalist and scholarship winner in the competition.

Student named finalist

Melanie Merritt of Belleville High School, has been selected as a semi-finalist in the 1989 Merit Scholarship Competition.

More than 15,000 high school seniors in the U.S. have been named semi-finalists by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The talented semi-finalists represent less than half of one percent of seniors in each state. Approximately 6,000 merit scholarships, worth about $23 million are available to the students. Winners will be announced soon.

Spirit reigns

Spirits were high at Belleville High School last week, as students celebrated homecoming. A week filled with activities and contests was the prologue to the homecoming football game, dance and, of course, crowning of a queen. Tia Williams was the lucky lady who walked home with that crown. Williams (right) was shocked when her name was called. These juniors (below) on the other hand were too busy chugging sodas. The soda drinking contest was actually staged earlier in the week at a spirit assmebly. Billy Kosidlo (left) and Chantel Lee probably won't be thirsty for a while. ANP photos by Linda Day

Critters visit Merriman

Good behavior from students at Merriman Elementary in Romulus netted them a visit from some pretty slippery critters.

Through the Positive Assertiveness Discipline program at the school, students are rewarded for good behavior, according to Joan Omarzu, teacher at the school.

Last month students were rewarded with a visit from a frog, a tortoise, a skunk, an angora rabbit and a boa constrictor.

Workers from the Living Science Foundation of Novi brought the animals to the school for students to get a closeup look.

Julius Squeezer, the eight-foot boa constrictor, created the biggest impression in students. Julius wound himself around students' arms and legs and even their necks, as the youngsters squealed with delight, and perhaps a little horror.

Students also enjoyed stimulating conversation with Dolly the Parrot.

Romulus High School students rewarded for hard work

Each month, administrators at Romulus High School recognize several students for outstanding achievement. The students are then recognized as students of the month.

In October, students were honored at a special ceremony with fellow students and parents present. For their achievements, 32 students were presented with $50 savings bonds by local sponsors.

The students of the month for October were: Leah Aggison, Felipe Allison; Ken Arnett sponsored by Bestway Disposal; Glenn Beach; Ronald Bembry, Tom Dolan; Karleton Bingham sponsored by RHS Math Department; Kelvin Brown; Wendy Burke, sponsored by RHS secretaries; Tracy Carter; Seema Chackunkal; Darryl Champion sponsored by Stears Hardware; John Cooley sponsored by Jerry Boehms; Alison Cope; Otto Daniels; Mark Dauter sponsored by RHS Science Department; Britica Davenport sponsored by Header Products; Shedrick Davenport; Shannon Dudonis sponsored by Ted's Supermarket; Don Dufore; Scott Flaishans sponsored by Romulus Rotary; Chris Forystek sponsored by Roxy; Angie Guajardo; Ron Hill; Mark Hoinka; Wendy Hopper; Tina Koivisto; Phillip Kraft sponsored by Bestway Disposal; James Kulinski; Sue Kurzyniec; Dan Lester sponsored by Ron's Pictures; Shemika Lewis sponsored by McDonald's of Romulus; Stacy McCombs sponsored by Phyllis Adkins; Amy McDonald sponsored by Mr. Bill's Pizza; Brent Matheny sponsored by Lance Knudson; Anthony Miller sponsored by Jim Orme; Diya Muhammad; Karen Mullins; Lear Siegler; Kim Picciano sponsored by Marriott Hotel; Don Pochmara sponsored by John Hopewell; Gil Powell; Chris Rivest sponsored by Romulus Kiwanis; Todd Robinson sponsored by William Musham; Sam Sapienza sponsored by Romulus High School; Angela Slawinski sponsored by Crova GMC; Richard Snell; Brian Snook sponsored by Romulus High School; Dennis Tessin sponsored by Daly's; Tammy Trubilowicz sponsored by Captain Nemo's; Keith Vanameyde; James Vasse; Rani Webb sponsored by home economics department; Anthony White sponsored by Romulus Kiwanis; Angelique Winans sponsored by Host International; Barbara Ward sponsored by Kelsey Hayes Co.; and Daniel Wood.

Public hospital authority assets transferred to private group

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

The gears have been set in motion to restructure the Peoples Community Hospital Authority into a private, non-profit organization.

Board members of the PCHA approved the transfer of PCHA assets to the new organization.

Board members ruled 28-5 in favor of the transfer at the monthly board meeting. Those voting against the action were Lawrence Lackey, of Ecorse, Thomas Pillar, Melvindale, Pauline Mojica, Woodhaven, Leo Kyko, and Refugio Torres, Southgate.

The ruling allows assets from PCHA to be transferred to United Care Inc., a private non-profit organization. The monies are to be used specifically for health care purposes, according to the resolution.

PCHA was given legislative authority last June when members of both houses of the state legislature voted in favor of the reorganization. Gov. James Blanchard signed the bill, House Bill 5755, into law in July.

The PCHA was formed in 1945 by Public Act 47 to bring quality health care to the western Wayne County and Downriver areas. The agency is supported by 24 member communities and governed by a 47-member board of directors.

The resolution cited that the PCHA has been operating at a deficit for the past three years and PCHA board members concluded the public interest would be better served if the "Authority reorganized as a corporation and affiliate with a tertiary, teaching, or medical center institution."

Acting as a non-profit organization, United Care Inc. can now enter into an affiliation agreement with Oakwood Health Services to "effectively utilize existing facilities as part of a total health care delivery system, including the recruitment and retention of physicians."

The assets of the hospital authority can be transferred between now and the first part of January, according to Maureen Camps, hospital spokeswoman.

"This vote finalizes the transfer of the assets to United Care. It won't affect the hospital services. It's really a change in the governance of the authority," Camps said. "It will change in strategic changes and business. The people working in the hospital won't really notice a difference. Because as employees, we are part of the assets that go over."

The last PCHA board meeting could be staged in January. At that time, board members of United Care Inc., who were chosen at a June board meeting, would then be the governing body of the authority, Camps said. Bylaws and articles of incorporation have already been drafted and approved for the new corporation.

Now that the resolution has been adopted, the 24 member communities of PCHA will have the option of withdrawing from the new corporation. In addition, communities that wish to remain as member communties will not be levied a millage rate. The PCHA is allowed to levy up to .4 mills to member communities. Currently, the rate is .2 mills.

"The communities have 60 days to determine if they want to remain in the PCHA. They have the opportunity to stay or get out," Camps said.

The resolution cited communities wishing to withdraw must adopt a resolution within 60 days of the vote, staged last Thursday.

But, it said "...the resolution is only effective upon transfer of the 'hospital' and further, that failure to adopt such a resolution will leave the community as a member of the Hospital Authority."

The PCHA owns and operates five hospitals in western Wayne County and Downriver including: Annapolis Hospital, in Wayne; Beyer Memorial, Ypsilanti; Heritage, Taylor; Outer Drive, Lincoln Park; Seaway, Trenton; and ambulatory care centers in Brownstown Township, Livonia and Westland.

Final budget review now due for county

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

The Wayne County budget should be in the hands of county commissioners this week, according to Mary Lannoye, county budget director.

The county charter requires that the budget be in the hands of commissioners that first week of November. The county fiscal year ends Nov. 30.

Budget hearings have been staged throughout the past month, with each department chief expressing his views on the budget presented by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

Lannoye said she has little information on the discussions, as they are staged by members of the county ways and means committee.

Once hearings are complete, members of the committee file their version of the budget with the commissioners, Lannoye said.

The most controversial portion of McNamara's budget involves the slicing of a dental program for the county indigent-care patients. McNamara's budget sacrificed the program so more money could be funneled into areas of infant mortality and day care.

If the measure is approved, dental clinics in Inkster, Westland, Taylor, Sumpter Township and the Downriver area will be closed.

Vernice Anthony, assistant county executive for health and community services, said many of the services provided at these clinics are also covered by Medicaid.

The remainder of McNamara's $254.3 million budget has generated little controversy.

The budget tops the 1988 budget by nearly $28 million and is balanced, as required by state law.

Beyond complying with collective-bargaining agreements and accounting for normal inflationary costs, county departments received few budgetary increases, Lannoye said.

A $10.5 million increase has been recommended for the fund, which provides programs for deliquent, abuse and neglected youth in the county. An additional $2 million is earmarked for a youth camp.

Approximately $800,000 is to be cut from the county sheriff's fund, if McNamara's budget remains intact. This cut will lead to a decrease in secondary-road patrols throughout the county, Lannoye said.

Nearly $170 million of county revenues come from the taxpayers. Additional revenues will be collected through a variety of state and federal subsidies, fees and through interdepartment transfers.

Average turnout expected

Election should attract more than 60 percent to polls

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

City and township clerks in western Wayne County are predicting an average voter turnout for the general election Nov. 8.

Average, that is, for an election which will determine who the next president of the United States will be.

"Traditionally, with a presidential election you have a heavy turnout," said Doris Kelley, an employee of the clerk's office at Canton Township. "Indications from absentee ballot action would back that up," she concluded.

Based on registration levels computed by the county clerk's office in Wayne County for August 1988, Canton Township has 36,218 registered voters.

In the 1980 presidential election, pitting Ronald Reagan against incumbent Jimmy Carter, 67 percent of the registered voters in Canton actually voted. Reagan received 10,032 votes, Carter, 5,574.

In 1984, Reagan gave a repeat performance, garnering 13,135 votes to the 5,010 received by challenger Walter Mondale.

> "I expect that the turnout might be about the same as usual. It might be a low turnout. There's not much excitement with this presidential election as in the past."
>
> — Delphine Oden
> Inkster city clerk

The number of registered voters in Romulus is 14,459. City Clerk Linda Choate said she expects between 8,500 and 9,000 voters to turn out for the election.

Romulus favored the Democrats in 1980. With 49 percent of the electorate voting, Carter edged out Reagan 4,270 to 3,255. In 1984, the tide turned. Reagan edged out Mondale, 4,085 to 3,970.

"I expect that the turnout might be about the same as usual," said Delphine Oden, clerk for the city of Inkster. "It might be a low turnout. There's not much excitement with this presidential election as in the past."

Oden said a judicial vacancy in the city might spark some voter interest.

In 1980, voter turnout for Inkster was relatively high at 63.7 percent. Carter won by a large margin in Inkster, generating 8,693 votes to Reagan's 2,355.

In 1984, voter turnout for Inkster was slightly higher, with Mondale generating 8,933 votes to Reagan's 2,967.

Inkster has 22,252 registered voters.

Westland, with 46,790 registered voters, favored the Republicans in 1980. With 66 percent voter participation, 14,145 people cast votes for Reagan and 13,597 for Carter. In 1984, with 65 percent turnout, the Republicans gained even more favor, winning 18,328 to 11,463.

Officials from the clerk's office in Westland anticipate a voter turnout in this election of approximately 65 percent.

Norma Collop, clerk for the city of Wayne, is estimating a voter turnout of between 65 and 70 percent. Collop believes the lack of an incumbent in this presidential race may entice more people to the polls.

Wayne has 10,985 registered voters as of August 1988. In the 1980 presidential election, 67 percent of the voters turned out to split their votes, 3,441 to 3,431 in favor of Carter.

In 1984, Reagan won a clear majority of the votes, winning in Wayne 4,187 to 2,845.

The city of Belleville, with 2,588 registered voters in August 1988, had the highest voter turnout of the five previous municipalities in 1980. Nearly three-quarters of the population, 74.4 percent, voted with Reagan winning the majority of votes.

In 1984, Reagan again won by an overwhelming margin in Belleville, 872 to 419.

The clerk for the city of Belleville was unavailable for comment.

911 phone system 'on target' in western Wayne

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Western Wayne County communities are "on target" with their plans to implement the Enhanced 911 emergency telephone system, according to Joseph Benyo, project coordinator.

"Most of the communities have either ordered their equipment or are ready to order before Nov.12," said Benyo, who is coordinating the program for the 17-community Conference of Western Wayne. "At this time local city councils and township boards are meeting to approve the funding. However, the communities do not have to pay for the Enhanced 911 equipment until it is up and running – in early 1989."

Benyo said the cost of the equipment can be financed through Michigan Bell or one of several other alternatives.

"While the communities are waiting to received their equipment orders, they are preparing their equipment rooms and doing any necessary wiring," Benyo said. "After Jan. 1, we will be in a test mode operation, and we will be in a better position to predict a start up date for the system.

The only community which has balked about the cost of the Enhanced 911 system is Inkster, according to Benyo.

Some erroneous information was given to Inkster officials regarding the compatibility of the Enhanced 911 system with their current emergency system, which resulted in some confusion about the cost of the system, Benyo said. However, the project coordinator has been working with city representatives and believes the misunderstandings have been worked out.

If Inkster, or any other community, does not purchased the terminal equipment, it would be served with a "phone only" emergency line. In other words, Benyo said, if an emergency would be called in, there would not be a system to record the phone number or the location of the call.

Communities may choose to install an Automatic Number Index system – which provides the phone number of the caller – or an Automatic Location Index system – which prints the address of the caller. Optional equipment also can hook up the emergency line with fire and police vehicles on-board equipment to further expedite the emergency service.

Another option, according to Benyo, is a "speed caller" with pre-designated buttons for various numbers. If, for example, a call needs to be relayed, the dispatcher can push the predesignated button of another service and still remain on the line to see whether the call has been properly handled without disconnecting the call.

Van Buren Township is one of the communities which has ordered "a full package," according to Police Chief Joseph Davies.

"I believe this is really good news for residents," Davies said. "It's very important to have a system that identifies the address of the caller on the emergency line. Many times people are so upset when they report a fire or an instance of a heart attack that they forget to give complete information."

'Problems prevented'

Can the Enhanced 911 system in western Wayne County avoid the problems that have plagued the emergency telephone system in neighboring Detroit?

Problems can be avoided, according to Joseph Benyo, coordinator of the E911 system for the 17-community Conference of Western Wayne, "through the effective training of dispatchers and a program of public relations and community awareness."

Benyo speculated that many of the problems in the Detroit system are caused by improper use of the emergency line for non-emergency calls.

"We are going to launch an extensive campaign to educate people about Enhanced 911," Benyo said. "We'll be going to schools, churches, clubs, senior citizens groups and other organizations to inform people about the use of the emergency service."

Benyo said his focus will be on promoting an awareness of E911 as a service for "life threatening situations," not for routine police or fire calls.

"Emergencies such a someone having a heart attack, a robbery in progress or a baby being born are situations where the E911 number should be call," Benyo said. "Any incident that could be handled by a routine call to the police, should not be dialed through the Enhanced 911 number. A broken ankle, for example, is a serious incident, but not a life-threatening situation."

Benyo noted that if the Enhanced 911 number is not used properly, the line will be tied up when emergency calls are received and problems will result.

"When non-emergency calls are received, then the dispatcher must evaluate the situation and make a decision on whether or not the call merits the emergency status or if it is a routine matter," Benyo said. "When that happens, it slows down the system and causes a lot of frustration. Both the dispatcher and the caller can become frustrated when a lot of questions must be asked to determine whether or not an emergency exists. If the public understands that Enhanced 911 is for life-threatening emergencies and limits their calls to these, then the system will run smoothly."

GENERIC DRUGS: YES OR NO?

By Sidney E. Chapin, M.D.

One study of a small group of healthy young men is enough to get a generic drug on the market. In contrast, multiple double-blind studies are done on large groups of sick patients before an application for approval can be submitted.

A double-blind study means that a group of patients with the same diagnosis is divided into a control group (they get a sugar pill that looks like the real drug), and a treated group (they get the real drug). Then the results and reactions are tabulated.

It can take years and much money before completing this process and preparation for presentation to the Federal Drug Administration. The F.D.A. may then have "unbiased" groups re-do these studies to see if they get the same results. Thus, more years may pass before a promising drug can reach the patient, while a generic drug can get to the market in weeks or months.

The bottom line is Bioequivalence; that is, what happens to the drug after it is swallowed; how well is it absorbed into the bloodstream; and does it have the desired effect?

Thirty years ago it was found that some drugs did not dissolve as well as others; 10 years later it was learned that even dissolved, some drugs were not absorbed. Twenty years ago many antibiotics had to be recalled because of poor Bioequivalence.

Since then Digoxin (heart medicine); Prednisone (a Cortisone product); Dilantin (taken for epilepsy); Furosemide (a water pill); a Quinidine product (used for heart irregularities); and more recently, Inderal (a multi-purpose heart and blood pressure medication), and one of the blood-sugar reducing tablets, have also been found to be inadequate in Bioequivalence.

Among older patients there are many additional factors that influence drug effect. Things such as kidney disease, liver insufficiency and stomach problems interfere with drug effect.

The original study of generic drug costs, done in Massachusetts, showed an overall savings of one percent. A recent study shows that generic drugs can vary in price up to 60 percent among various pharmacies. Particularly with drugs that must be taken continuously for many years (not unusual among senior citizens), savings will be very low. In fact, some generic drugs actually cost more and this requires considerable shopping by the patient. Now, with the increase in medicare deductibles, the cost of drugs for elderly patients becomes even more critical.

At a recent conference, the American Academy of Family Physicians announced that its members "could not honestly guarantee the effects of some generic drugs for their patients."

Ask your physician about each prescription. It may pay.

Opinion

We endorse . . .

Tuesday is the judgment day in some respects. You, the voter, are the judge, and your decisions will impact each of us for the next two or four years.

The task is a weighty one, no doubt. But it is one you must make for our future.

Obviously, we speak of the general election for several federal, state, county and local offices, as well as a handful of ballot proposals. You have seen the candidates, the debates, the issues. Now, you must formulate the information you have received and vote your conscience. You must choose the most qualified candidates to serve in public office – one of the highest and most revered positions in our democratic system.

We, as your newspaper, have also reviewed the facts, the candidates and the issues and have formulated our own opinions on the election. We offer to you now the candidates who we feel will best serve the general public and who will fulfill every obligation and requirement of a public servant.

We urge you to heed our endorsements and brief explanations and, perhaps, use them on which to base your own conclusions. Above all, we urge you to vote and participate in "the judgment day." Your future, our future depends on it.

Federal offices

■ PRESIDENT/VICE PRESIDENT – Our support goes to Republican presidential candidates George Bush and Dan Quayle. Surely, these two proven leaders will continue the economic prosperity and general national stability we have enjoyed during the last eight years. Both have presented societal, economic and diplomatic ideals we support, and both are the strongest managers of our country of any of the candidates running.

■ CONGRESS – In the U.S. Senate, we support incumbent Democrat Sen. Donald Riegle Jr. His expertise and knowledge of the system are benefits to this country, and his support of his constituency deserves recognition.

In the U.S. House, we support incumbent Democrats William D. Ford and Sander Levin. Ford has again and again shown his colors as a leader in education and in the postal system and has the ability and the experience to represent the 15th District well. Levin also is an experienced, constituency-minded lawmaker, who is doing a good job at communicating with his voters in his 17th District home.

State offices

■ HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES – We support incumbent Michigan lawmakers Lynn Owen (Democrat, 21st District), William R. Keith (Democrat, 33rd District), Gerald H. Law (Republican, 36th District), James A. Kosteva (Democrat, 37th District) and Justine Barns (Democrat, 38th District). The experience of all is an obvious plus to voters. We are especially content with the work Law, Kosteva and Barns have done to aid their consituents and bring the state government to a local understanding. All five state lawmakers are clear strengths and assets in state government.

Wayne County

■ COUNTY COMMISSIONERS – The fact that Democratic commissioners Milton Mack (11th county District) and Kay Beard (12th county District) are unopposed in this election is a clear indication of their strengths and abilities. We take this opportunity to laud both of them and feel confident that they will represent our area well for another term on the county board.

■ COUNTY OFFICIALS – Incumbent Democrat county officials John D. O'Hair, prosecuting attorney; Robert Ficano, sheriff; James Killeen, county clerk; Raymond J. Wojtowicz, treasurer; and Forest E. Youngblood, register of deeds all have proven their expertise in county matters, and all deserve another seat in the county administrative offices. While we caution these officials to remain more professional than political in their jobs, we are confident that each will provide the answers to the county administrative problems of tomorrow.

Local offices

■ CANTON TOWNSHIP – For supervisor, we place our support and trust in the obvious winner and unopposed candidate Thomas Yack (Republican). Although this support is new, we are looking forward to the new blood and fresh ideas Yack brings to the township board and are willing to support and assist him in every way.

For township clerk, Republican Loren Bennett is our choice. A proven leader, Bennett is the most experienced, most efficient and will bring respect back to the clerk's office. Bennett will also be a good team player in the new Yack administration.

For treasurer, Republican Gerald Brown deserves our nod. He knows the ropes, has invested township funds well and is a good watchdog of the people.

For trustees, we support Republicans John Preniczky (experienced and soft-spoken but has the best interest of the township at mind), Robert Shefferly (thoughtful, good track record on planning commission and task-oriented), Elaine Kirchgatter (good schools connections, respected, task-oriented) and Henry Whalen (good economic ideas, image promotion ideas and concept of harmonious form of local government).

■ INKSTER – For the 22nd District Court judge, we, again, support Inkster Councilman Patrick O'Neil. He will be an effective leader, has the local commitment and knowledge necessary to sit on the prestigious bench and will be a respected and dedicated judicial leader for many years to come.

■ SUMPTER TOWNSHIP – For supervisor, we support Republican candidate Rex Ryckman, who, we believe, can provide a positive impact on the township board, with his business background and leadership skills.

For township clerk, treasurer and trustees, we support Democratic incumbents Clerk Joan Oddy, Treasurer John Morgan and Trustees Louis Banotai, Barbara Dudek and Karl King and newcomer Arness Cox (Democrat) for their respective offices. We support the re-election of the candidates to continue their work on the many crucial issues that face the residents of Sumpter Township at this time. Their past experience in office will be beneficial as they continue to work out solutions to the landfill issue, expand the economic base of the township and increase necessary services to the residents.

■ VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP – Based on the record of their accomplishments during the past four years, Van Buren incumbent Supervisor R. Lynne Hamilton and his Republican "response team" slate have earned the support of the voters in the Nov. 8 election. Hamilton successfully led the township through the months of controversy and crisis surrounding the repair of the French Landing Dam. It was during this period of turmoil that Hamilton's leadership qualities turned the situation around to a successful conclusion, by working with local, state and federal representatives – of both parties – and, finally, signing the agreement last week which will put the long-idled power plant back on line as an asset, rather than a liability to the township.

We believe Helen Foster has done an outstanding job as treasurer, and Joann Tadrick, with her experience as deputy clerk, has the ability to continue in the able footsteps of retiring Clerk Delphine Dudick. As a team, we believe the candidates for the trustees posts can provide the continuity to continue the positive steps made by the Hamilton administration.

On the other hand, we must tip our hats to the fine past record of many members of the Democratic team. Surely, Patricia Birbeck deserves credit and recognition for her tireless efforts and community service. We feel, as a whole, the David Jacokes slate has committed to positive programs and goals – reduce tax burden, accountability, utilization of recreation resources and senior programs. However, when we check the record of the incumbent Republican team, we see these goals either have already been implemented or have already been proposed.

Ballot proposals

■ GAMBLING – Wayne County voters should vote "yes" on this proposal to ensure that, if any form of gambling is prohibited in the city of Detroit, the county seat, the ban will also extend throughout the county. Gambling should not be in the economic future of the area. We do not need it.

■ SPECIAL EDUCATION – Voters should support the stepped-up programming they started in 1974 by voting "yes" on this proposal. Special-education programs in the county depend on this funding to end an increasing deficit. This worthwhile program should not be jeopardized or destroyed because of funding.

■ PROPOSAL A – Voters should say "no" to a ban on tax-funded abortions. This amendment is a dangerous threat to the rights of citizens. As we do not attempt to form an opinion on personal morality of the people, we feel the government should also decline to legislate morality.

■ PROPOSAL B – Crime victims' right would be spelled out and guaranteed under the Michigan Constitution if voters cast a "yes" vote on this issue. The obvious benefits are a plus to us all.

■ PROPOSALS C and D – This package of environmental and recreation bonds needs the full support of the voters. A "yes" vote on both issues will ensure the cleanup of toxic and contaminated sites throughout the state – including the Detroit and Rouge rivers – and a stepped-up recreational program may be realized, as a result of these proposals.

■ CANTON TOWNSHIP – If voters are sincere about their desire to enjoy a $7.9 million community center in the township, they will, obviously, be sincere in financially backing the idea. A "yes" vote will show support of the concept and a commitment to pay for this desire.

■ ROMULUS SCHOOLS – The future of dozens of school programs depend on a "yes" vote for two ballot proposals. Romulus voters should not jeopardize the quality of education in their schools. Their lack of support will backfire when drastic cuts in programming are made in January.

■ SUMPTER TOWNSHIP – We support two proposals for police services and the environment. Added costs for police protection in the township, a concern for better public safety and a need to address future landfill and environmental concerns make a "yes" vote the only logical choice.

■ VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP – Police and fire services are the two most important in any community. Thus, if citizens desire increased protection and security, they must also show their financial support. A "yes" vote will ensure better police and fire programming within the township for years to come.

Story missed the true facts

Who in the world wrote the article Oct. 19 about famous people? I refer to the column about General Laney, of Inkster (Suburban Living).

Don't staff writers know about the NRA? "American Rifle Association?"

Then, the Fourth Amendment of the Constitution is about the right to bear arms? I wonder about the accuracy of any articles by this group of uninformed staff writers.

S.K. PULLEN
Belleville

Editor's note: Pullen refers to an incorrect reference to the National Rifle Association as the "American Rifle Association." He also cited an error of fact in the Oct. 19 article about the provision of the Constitution guaranteeing the right of Americans to bear arms. This provision is the Second Amendment, not the Fourth, as reported.

City manager's raise not fair

How can Inkster City Manager Grady Holmes and council justify giving Holmes a $5,000 raise when the city of Inkster is $200,000 in the red? Where is the money coming from?

How can the city manager and council justify even considering giving Holmes a new car? Where is the money coming from?

How can the city administration even think of paying $10,000 for an 8-foot sign in front of city hall? Where is the money coming from?

How can the city of Inkster justify these unnecessary expenditures after cutting the commission on aging budget by $10,000? Where are the priorities of this city?

Are the city administration and council members trying to make Inkster another Ecorse or River Rouge? They are certainly doing a good job of spending money that the city of Inkster doesn't have.

Westland workers' concern questioned

I am writing in reference to the Aug. 24 response by city of Westland workers to my earlier letter to the editor.

I would like to take this opportunity to apologize to the city of Westland employees. How silly of me to expect someone from finance to carry an envelope 10 feet to a desk and drop it off.

I am not fortunate to work in an organization that has such specialists. If there is work to be done, we do it, whether it is our job or not. I don't know how long we could stay in business if we left our customers standing for 10 or 15 minutes.

Of course, if we did, we couldn't just raise taxes to make up for the lost revenue. If there had been a crowd of people at the city hall, I could understand if I got into the wrong line. But I was the only person there at the time.

I have to assume that, if I had enough intelligence to find city hall, I could figure out what line to stand in.

As for going to the council meeting, from what I read in the newspapers, it is just a three-ring circus. If the mayor or city council cared enough about the treatment one citizen gets, he or they would have answered my letter – not you. The only time they care about the citizens is at election, when they are running for office.

I have lived in Westland since it became a city and have never had the mayor, councilman or police officer walk around the neighborhood to try to find out what they could do to make it a safer, nicer place to live. I, again, apologize for assuming you work for us. We really do work for you.

You stated I was upset. This is true but no more than if I were treated this way in a store or shop. In a store, I can take my business elsewhere. To the best of my knowledge, I am not allowed to shop around for my vote.

You stated that I should have gone to a supervisor. On this point, I agree. Next time, I will.

I did not write to complain about all city employees. There probably are some hard-working people. But, like any other business, there are people who are doing as little as possible. You know who they are. I don't.

On the issues. To me, this is the most important.

The PR is just typical politics.

I think the issues would sway me. I can't believe some of the things they have said about each other.

Definitely on the issues. The vital issue is the environmental, clean air and water acts.

Education is also a major issue. The children are our future.

The most important was the issues. The debates were good.

Dukakis stuck to the issues. Bush seemed to make comments and cheap shots.

Romulus scores 14-0 upset victory over Belleville

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

"What can I say? These kids knew I wanted to win this one. And they played their hearts out to win it."

That's how Romulus head football coach Norb Glover summed up the Eagles' 14-0 victory Friday over neighboring Belleville.

The victory could be Glover's last as rumors continue to spread that the veteran Romulus coach may be stepping down. It has been a frustrating year for Glover whose club posted a 2-7 overall record and failed to win a game in the tough South Central Conference.

Belleville Coach Dave McCarney was disappointed and frustrated over the season-ending setback. It is the second time in as many years that Romulus has handed the Tigers a defeat in the final game of the year.

"The loss was a nightmare," McCarney said. "A disappointing loss for us and you have to give Romulus credit. They came to play - we didn't. And, obviously, this wasn't a very nice way to end the season."

Romulus, indeed, came to play and came up with the big plays. And it was Aro Trinity who engineered the upset. The senior running back caught a 63-yard pass from quarterback Bobbie Holt to score early in the second quarter to put the Eagles up by six points, then in the same period provided the visitors with the insurance TD on a 72-yard touchdown run pulled off on a trap play. He also scored the two-point conversion.

Trinity finished the evening with the two touchdowns and 183 yards on 23 carries.

But Belleville had and missed its golden opportunities.

Early in the first quarter, Belleville's Joey Yuhas recovered a mishandled punt on the Eagle 18-yard line. Smelling touchdown, the Tigers went for the kill. However, after two consecutive holding penalties that hurled them back out of range and a loss of four on their third try, it appeared that the handwriting was clearly on the wall.

Belleville saw two other separate touchdown threats dissipate. On their third possession, quarterback Jeremy Ison initiated a drive that took the Tigers downfield to the Romulus six where, on the seventh play of the series, he handed off to Virgil Chandler. Chandler looked as if he had pay dirt when one of the Romulus backs nailed him, and the ball popped out of the senior running back's hands and landed in the Eagle end zone where it was recovered by Romulus.

Finally, a pass from Ison to Craig Chance with time running out fell one yard shy of a touchdown as the first half ended.

Glover lauded his offensive line and the play of Eddie Miller, who was converted to center from tackle, for the team's success. He singled out guards Ralph Farrell and Joe Householder and tackle Maurice Windham for exceptional performances.

Romulus finished the season with a two-game winning streak and a 2-7 overall record, while Belleville had a 3-6 overall mark.

"These kids showed me in the last two games what they are really capable of doing," Glover said. "Unfortunately, it's the end of the season."

Bulldogs playoff bid falls short

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Bay City John Glenn, the reigning White Pine Conference champ, burst Robichaud's playoff bubble Friday night with a 21-12 victory over Coach Bob Yauck's Suburban Athletic Conference champs.

"We gave it a good try," said Yauck whose club needed the victory over the Class A team to muscle their way into the playoffs. "Unfortunately, we just didn't make it."

Robichaud finished the 1988 football campaign with a 6-3 record. Two of those losses, however, were by one point.

"When you consider that one TD and a couple of extra-pointers were the difference between an undefeated and a 6-3 season, you got to believe that this team is among the best 10 Class B teams in the state," Yauck commented. "These kids can hold their heads high. They have nothing to be ashamed of."

Bay City came into the finale with a 6-2 record. And it took all they had to stop the Dearborn Heights' grid machine.

After scoring late in the first quarter, Bay City failed to stop Robichaud quarterback Eric Thomas and sophomore tailback Tyrone Wheatley in the ensuing series. It took Thomas, who scampered 56 yards on one play, all but two plays to retaliate. The Bulldogs scored from the four-yard line on a Wheatley dash into the end zone to tie the game at 6-all.

It was Bay City that broke the deadlock. The White Pine Conference champs came right back and marched to the Robichaud 10 where quarterback Marc Uhlmann flipped a 10-yard scoring pass to Craig Hegenauer to make it a 12-6 ball game. Then Hegenauer scored the two-point conversion, turning it into a 14-6 decision.

However, Thomas and the Bulldogs refused to quit. The Robichaud quarterback came back in three plays to score. He connected on a 42-yard pass to split end Michael Hart which put the ball on the Bay City 34-yard line, then Thomas picked up eight and on the third play of the series, Thomas handed off to Wheatley who again broke loose, this time on an option, and sprinted 29 yards for the TD.

After the intermission, Robichaud became the aggressor. Thomas put together a series that took the Bulldogs inside the Bay City 10 where they handed the ball over on down. They never got another opportunity.

In the meantime, Glenn capitalized on a Bulldog fumble at the visitors' 39 to score an insurance touchdown. A nine-play drive that ended with a Sturtz to Bryce 10-yard touchdown clinched the game for the hosts.

Injured in the first game of the 1988 campaign, Tyrone Wheatley (above) muscled his way back into the Robichaud starting lineup late in the year and helped the Bulldogs retain the Suburban Athletic Conference title. Coach Bob Yauck wondered aloud Friday evening after his team's season-ending loss at Bay City John Glenn what his team could have accomplished if the sophomore tailback had remained healthy. The Bulldogs posted a 6-0 SAC and a 6-3 overall record. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

> If you consider that one TD and two extra points made the difference between an undefeated and a 6-3 season, then these kids have nothing to be ashamed of. I am proud of them as players and as individuals.
>
> — Bob Yack
> Robichaud coach

Wheatley finished the game with 62 yards on 12 carries, including the one TD, while Thomas rushed for 37 yards on six tries. He also was good for 51 yards on a two-of-12 passing assault.

Tim Parker wrapped up his prep grid career with an outstanding effort. The senior defensive tackle counted five solos and five assists while teammate Gary Johnson, a middle linebacker, also distinguished himself in his prep finale with 12 solos and one assists. Carl Brown, a strong safety, chipped in five unassisted and seven assists.

Robichaud had seven first downs to Bay City's 13, while the Bulldog ballcarriers chalked up 115 yards as compared to Bay City's 268 yards rushing.

"I would like to say that we had a very good group of seniors and they this was a very coachable team," remarked Yauck. "And, if Tyrone (Wheatley) had not been injured in that first game, this could have been a different kind of season.

"He wasn't able to play up to his potential because of that injury," Yauck concluded.

In other games involving SAC teams: Detroit Central edged Highland Park in overtime, 20-14; Inkster lost to Jackson Northwest, 65-0; Oak Park was shut out by Berkley, 20-0; River Rouge blanked Saginaw Buena Vista, 12-0; and Ecorse dropped a 38-8 decision to Unionville-Sebwaing.

Stumpf, Griffin qualify for state cross country finals

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Coming off of an impressive victory at the Wolverine 'A' Conference cross country championships, Belleville High's sensational sophomore distance runner, Valentine Stumpf, Saturday finished fourth at the Class A regionals to qualify for the state finals.

Stumpf toured the 5,000-meter Willow Metro regional course in a time of 20:14 to earn a fourth-place finish. She will advance to the state finals scheduled to be run Saturday at Flint.

Belleville Coach Dave Medley said that Stumpf could finish among the top 10 in the state if "everything falls into place."

"You got to remember that there are a lot of excellent runners in the state," Medley said. "And I believe that Valentine could possibly be in the thick of the race if she runs her race."

Undefeated Monroe, which stashed the Wolverine 'A' Conference team championship away a week ago, came right back and won the regional at Willow Metro. The Trojans will represent the region at the state finals and are picked by some to win the coveted state title. Joining the regional champs are the second- and third-place regional finishers: Woodhaven and Trenton, respectively.

Belleville finished seventh in a field of 15 competing teams. The Tigers also received an outstanding effort from Laura Alberts who crossed the finish line 21st.

In the meantime, Belleville's Gary Griffin also qualified for the state with a 15th place finish at the regional. Griffin's time was a 17:09.

League champ Tim Picture led Monroe to the regional team championship with Wyandotte and Livonia Franklin finishing second and third. Belleville used its freshmen power to wind up in fifth place.

"It's quite an honor for Gary (Griffin) to qualify for state," Medley noted. "He has greatly improved over the span of a year and captained this team."

Belleville girls finished the conference season with a 5-2 record and an 8-3 overall mark, while the boys were 3-4 and 5-5 on the year.

In the meantime, Robichaud just missed qualifying one of its runners for the Class B state finals. Billy Orsette was clocked in 17:25 and finished 25 at the Riverview Highland's regional. His teammate Billy Matt White was 28th (17:29).

"I felt that our kids fared pretty well," said Robichaud coach Jim Hadley. "We have a young team and this experience is going to help."

In the race for the Suburban Athletic Conference title, the Bulldogs managed to win a "cliffhanger" from previously undefeated Highland Park. Using the rarely utilized "tie-breaker rule" after the two teams each scored 28 points, the victory went to the Dearborn Heights harriers when their sixth runner, Tony Lario, finished 10th, ahead of the Parkers' sixth runner.

White and Orsette accounted for a second and third place with times of 17:12 and 17:13, then the Bulldogs nailed down sixth, eighth and ninth thanks to Frank Hayes, Robert Stewart and Francis Curto.

Robichaud destroyed Inkster 19-42 in their rematch with arch-rivals, Inkster, as Orsette, White and Hayes finished 1-2-3. Inkster's best was Carlos Jackson - who hit the wire in fourth place - while George Johnson was fifth. Teammates Brian Skinner, Bernard Reeves and Jeff Smith had the 10th-11th-and 12th best times of the meet.

Canadians invade Romulus

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The traditional international girls' basketball game between Essex, Ont. and Romulus, Mich. has been a friendly affair.

Romulus cage coach Ron Bayes says, "sometimes it's been too friendly."

"There's a camaraderie between the two teams that has grown with the years, and how do you get your team mentally prepared under those circumstances?" Bayes rhetorically asked.

"Last week I warned our girls that they (Essex) will come to play. And they did. We're lucky we managed to regroup after that first period to win," Bayes said.

Essex stayed in the game for the first eight minutes and trailed by five (16-11) before Bayes said he had enough and switched from a man-to-man to a zone defense. The host Canadians couldn't adapt themselves to the change and managed to score only three points during the span of eight minutes.

Led by 6-3 center Laurie Berlinn and sophomore Sue Molenda, Romulus came back and outscored their rivals 17-3 to increase their advantage to 33-14 at the half. Romulus went on to win the lopsided decision 61-29.

Berlinn, an All-Area center a year ago, pumped in a game-high 21 points and pulled down 17 rebounds to lead the Eagles. Molenda contributed 17 points.

Essex will repay the Romulus visit on Friday when they come to town for the rematch. Varsity is scheduled to take to the floor at 4 p.m.

And, again, Bayes and his Eagles are planning to play the role of "perfect hosts".

Until, of course, the two teams hit the hardwood.

"Then, I hope my players will understand - we play to win."

And you don't have to tell that to the Canadians.

Playoffs may tell

How good is Wolverine 'A' League?

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

How good is the Wolverine 'A' Football Conference.

High school football fans and coaches will find out Saturday when the 1988 district playoffs get underway. Monroe and Lincoln Park, which finished in a two-way tie for the Wolverine championship, will represent the conference in post-season playoff competition.

Monroe, with a 6-1 conference and a 8-1 overall record, drew Lansing Sexton in the first round of competition Saturday at Lansing Sexton.

In the meantime, Lincoln Park, which also boasts a 6-1 league and 8-1 overall record, has to contend with Westland John Glenn, which captured a divisional title but lost the Western Lakes Conference championship to the number one ranked Class B team in the state, Farmington Harrison.

Kickoff in district play is slated for 1:30 p.m.

Winners of district championships will play for regional titles a week from Saturday.

Robichaud, the only local Class B team that had any hopes of qualifying for a playoff berth, saw their dreams shattered Friday night at Bay City John Glenn where the Twin Pine Conference champs claimed a 21-12 victory over the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champs.

Robichaud finished with a perfect 6-0 SAC record, but a 6-3 overall record for the 1988 campaign.

Rematch

Title hopes shattered, champ eyes revenge

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With their title hopes shattered, defending Huron Conference girls' basketball champs, New Boston Huron, takes on Grosse Ile with revenge in their hearts.

With two losses tacked to their conference record, Coach Bill Harrison and the Chiefs realize that they can't catch the title-bound Islanders who have an impeccable 12-0 record.

"The best we can do is to tarnish their record," noted Harrison going into the rematch last night. Huron is to play Monroe Jefferson on Thursday.

In the meantime, the Chiefs managed to survive two close scares last week. The defending champs surfaced atop of a 62-59 league decision with Flat Rock and also escaped Monroe St. Mary's clutches 50-47.

"I feel fortunate that we won these two games," Harrison said. "Believe me they were close."

St. Mary's was one of two teams that had beaten Huron in the first round. The Monroe quintet wasted little time, taking the initiative 17-6 behind Amy Theisen's excellent all-around play. Theisen tossed in nine of her game-high 21 points in the first eight minutes to stake St. Mary's to the nine-point advantage.

However, the Chiefs rallied back as Jenn Gracia helped force several St. Mary's turnovers with her aggressiveness. Huron outscored and outplayed their conference rivals, cutting the deficit to 24-23 at the end of the initial half.

Then, the Chiefs took the lead for the first time in the third period as Lauri Labeau came through with a pair of crucial baskets. Although the lead exchanged hands several times in the final eight minutes, Huron managed to even the score with their arch-rivals thanks to a 16-13 scoring edge in the third period and a 11-10 advantage in the finale.

Labeau finished with 19 points, her team's top scorer.

The Chiefs needed a second period surge to shake Flat Rock loose from a close contest. Up 13-12 in the first period, Huron outscored their rivals 27-11 to take a 40-23 halftime lead. But Flat Rock refused to quit. They came back and slashed the Chiefs' lead with a 20-10 scoring ratio in the third period, turning it into a 50-43 ball game after three periods.

Flat Rock cagers kept the outcome of the game in doubt until the final whistle when they closed within a point of catching up. But Laurel Haener's final basket sounded the knell for the upset-minded quintet.

Haener turned in one of her finest performances of the season. She finished with 25 points, 12 of those in that turnaround second period. She also had 12 rebounds.

Clarissa Jones, a junior forward, finished with a game-high 32, collecting 13 of those for the losers in the third period.

The two victories boosted the Huron record to 13-3 overall and 10-2 in the league.

In a nonleague confrontation involving Romulus and Belleville, the Eagles of Romulus emerged with a 47-41 victory over Coach Mike Garland's Tigers.

Romulus center Laurie Berlinn led all scorers with 21 points. The Eagles took a 15-10 first period lead and held on despite efforts by All-Area Belleville forward Kathy Murphy, who kept the Tigers in the game.

Murphy accounted for 20 of her team's 41 points while teammate, Christie Garrett, chipped in 10. Garrett has managed to stay in the lineup despite a bruised calf muscle that has kept the Belleville sharpshooter hobbling most of the time.

Monroe, the undefeated Wolverine 'A' Conference leader, polished off Belleville later in the week in a conference game, 54-23. The title-bound Trojans jumped from a 10-6 first period lead to a 26-9 half time advantage and never looked back.

"We just aren't playing the kind of game I know we are capable of," said Garland whose club enters the week of competition with a 3-5 conference and a 7-8 won-lost overall record. "We have to have five players contributing at all times or we are not going to make it - and that's all there is to it."

Belleville clashed with Lincoln Park last night and will take on Southgate Anderson tomorrow night at home.

Inkster improved its Suburban Athletic Conference record last week at the expense of natural rival, Dearborn Heights Robichaud, as Coach Dwight Hotchkiss and the Vikings won an easy 79-31 decision.

The Vikings, behind balanced scoring by Tequan Abney and Angie Thomas, struck early. They led 39-16 at the half, then outscored their rivals 22-5 in the third period to turn the game into a one-sided affair.

Abney, a 5-7 sophomore forward, scored 13 of her game-high.

26 points in the second period to lead the charge. Thomas chipped in with 18.

However, River Rouge buried the Vikings' hopes of a title year with a 61-49 victory on Thursday. Rouge needs a win over Oak Park to clinch the SAC crown.

"We made 38 turnovers for the game," said Hotchkiss, "and you can't stop a team of Rouge's caliber like that. But, I have to say this for our team , we played a good solid first two quarters."

Rouge managed to eke out a 12-9 advantage after the first eight minutes and the Panthers held a 25-21 lead after two, but they came alive after the intermission and outscored the Vikings 24-12 then coasted to their eight consecutive conference win.

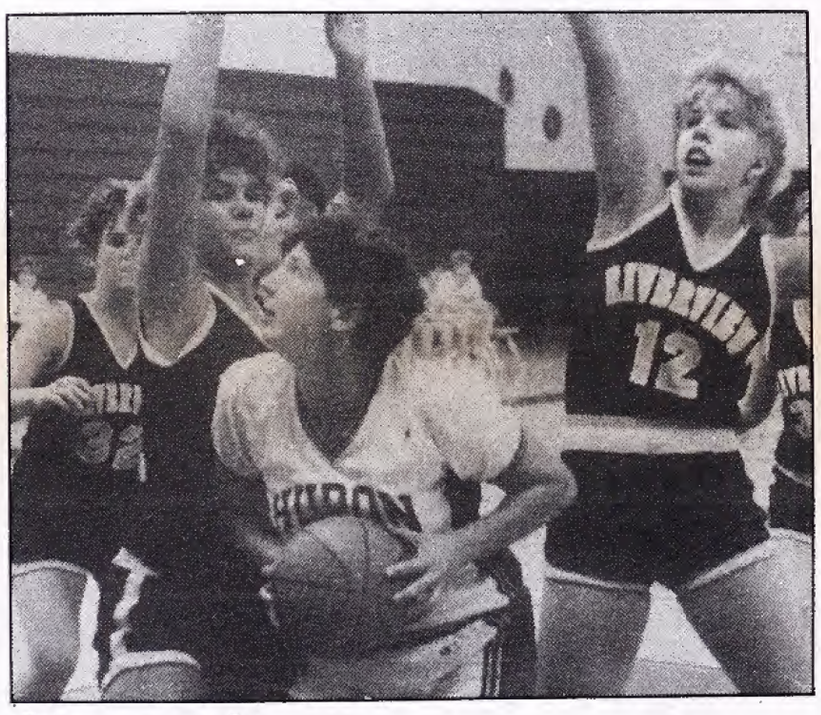
Three players - Bonner (27), Tuggle (16) and Choice (18) - accounted for all of the Panthers' scoring.

Inkster got 17 points from Abney and 11 from Latonya McMillan.

Thomas, who reinjured her ankle 30 seconds into the game, was sidelined most of this contest.

"If you had been at full strength, I felt we would have given them an even better game," the Viking coach noted.

Inkster returned yesterday to the friendly confines of the Recreation Center where they played out-of-conference opponents, Dearborn. They will return to the conference trail tomorrow, traveling to Willow Run.



For real

Pausing to see what kind of commitment the two Riverview defenders will make is New Boston Huron center Laurel Haener, erroneously identified in last week's photo. Haener dumped in 25 points and nailed down 12 rebounds this week to lift the Chiefs to a 62-59 victory over Flat Rock. She's been one of the key links in a 13-3 Huron season this year. GOOD TIME. GREAT TASTE.

The 1988 high school football season came to an abrupt end Friday for all of the local teams. The task now begins for the Associated Newspapers' sports staff to pick its traditional All-Area team. The elite club, composed of the top defensive and offensive players in the area, plus a "Coach of the Year" will be announced in the coming weeks. Don't miss it. Pictured above is Inkster quarterback Earl Casey(14) who is out of reach of a Robichaud defender. Robichaud won this Suburban Athletic Conference finale, however, lost a close one at Bay City John Glenn Friday evening that ended the champ's bid for a post-season playoff bid. Record improved

Belleville swimmers boast 20-point victory

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville swimmers improved their Wolverine 'A' Conference record last week with a 28-point victory over rival, Wayne Memorial.

Coach Greg Cooper's Zebras claimed six of 11 first places en route to their fourth triumph, 93-70, in five conference starts. The Tigers are 8-2 on the year.

"These kids have a natural rivalry going with Wayne that goes back some years," Cooper noted. "However, because many of our swimmers are new to this team they didn't know just how deep-rooted that tradition is.

"They learned last week," Cooper said.

Belleville launched its assault on Wayne with a victory in the opening 200-yard medley relay as Cooper selected Christie Adkins, Jennifer Snure, Shelene Reed and Gina Montie for the event. The foursome turned in the winning time of 2:06.58.

> What these kids lack in experience they make up in hard work and the willingness to put in long hours. That's about all a coach can ask for from his athletes.
>
> — Greg Cooper
> Belleville swim coach

That victory set the pace for the Belleville rout.

Montie then returned to the pool and contributed two more crucial events. She took a first in the 50-yard freestyle, covering the distance in a 26.79. She also touched in first for the 100-yard freestyle in a 59.75 effort.

Belleville also tucked away the 200-yard individual medley thanks to Snure's performance who was clocked in the winning time of 2:33.02.

Valentine Merritt provided the Tigers with a win in the 100-yard butterfly as she churned a 1:09.50 for the victory, and teammate Adkins turned in the winning time for the 100-yard backstroke as she touched in at 1:14.30.

Earlier in the week, Belleville overpowered Southgate Anderson, 119-35, as the Tigers swept 10 out of the 11 first places.

However, Belleville played the role of perfect host during its annual invitational. The Tigers finished sixth in a field of six. Plymouth Canton won the invitational title, followed in the final standings by Milan, Adrian, Edsel Ford of Dearborn, and Willow Run.

Cooper and his tankers are wrapping up the dual meet phase of the conference season. They have Wyandotte remaining on the conference schedule before competing in the conference championships scheduled for later in the week.

"These kids have to continue to improve their times if we are to finish among the top teams at the league," said Cooper who is closing out his second season as head coach. "What this team lacks in experience is made up by their willingness to work long and hard to catch up. And, that, after all is all a coach can ask of his athletes."

Clerks work behind the election scenes

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Voting is such an easy process.

A few weeks before the election, one must register to vote.

And then on election day, drive a few miles, draw the curtain and exercise your right as an American citizen.

Isn't democracy great?

But have you ever stopped to wonder what it takes to stage an election?

Who sets up the machines?

How do the people behind the tables know what to do?

Who adds up the votes?

And who makes sure no one cheats? Someone could try to vote more than once. That could mean what's-his-name could end up in the White House.

Don't panic. Someone is in control.

Just walk into any city clerk's office in any city in the country and the answer will be right in front of you.

"The role of a city clerk in an election?," asked Westland Clerk Diane Rohraff.

"We do pretty much everything. We train the workers that people see on election day, we make sure people are where they are supposed to be, we send out and collect absentee ballots, we add the votes up, we send the results to the county building, . . ."

Pretty much everything.

"A lot of people think these machines and the people who run elections just pop up on election day," said Romulus City Clerk Linda Choate.

"But it's a process that takes weeks of preparation. It's a very interesting process, and I think Wayne County has excellent elections because of the people involved and the work they put in."

The clerk's job begins well before election day with the handling of absentee ballots.

A list is kept from previous elections of people who vote by absentee ballot. An absentee ballot is sent to those people and to anyone else who has requested the form.

The clerk can't open the ballots until the polls have closed on election day.

"We have almost 800 absentee ballots right now and that's a good indication that we will have a large turnout," said Wayne City Clerk Norma Collop.

The clerk is also responsible for the training of election personnel.

An hour-long class is conducted by the clerk in which the workers are informed of their jobs and responsibilities before, during and after the election.

"It's mostly a refresher course for many," Collop said. "We spend a little longer with people who are working their first election, and we also give any updates on anything new.

"For example, this year we have a party preference form which people are urged to fill out."

The day of the election is not only a busy one for clerks, but a long one.

"I am usually here around 5:30 a.m. and, during a presidential election, I work until around midnight," Rohraff said.

"The precinct chairpeople arrive at 6 a.m. to pick up their supplies and we make sure they have everything. Some arrive even earlier to get a head start."

A common problem that chairpeople and the clerks must take care of is people who are at the wrong voting precinct.

"It happens quite a bit in Westland because the school district has different voting rules," Rohraff said. "People should follow the directions on the card sent out by the city not the school district."

When the polls close, the clerk is still working, adding up the results and preparing them to be sealed and sent in.

Dog groomers are not 'miracle workers'

Believe it or not, there are times when I become completely baffled at situations which take place in the grooming room.

I have said this before, but it still holds true. Groomers are the least respected people in almost any chosen profession.

As is true in any field, there are good groomers and not-so-good groomers. There are groomers who do sloppy work and groomers who deserve a plaque for creativity. In order to find the grooming salon for you, you must shop around and ask around. Looking at recently groomed dogs can aid you in selecting the place to take your dog.

Keep in mind, the groom is not a miracle worker. One cannot expect a schnauzer to be styled to resemble a French poodle. Neither the body shape, head formation or hair will accommodate that "new" look. Certain breeds were created for a purpose.

The body structure and hair type are meant specifically for that breed. Slight variations are possible, but, no matter how hard the groomer tries, he cannot make wavy hair straight or silky hair course and stiff. So, don't expect this when you are discussing which style you want for your dog.

The biggest sore spot with any groomer is matted hair. The best way to describe a matted dog is to imagine gluing cotton balls all over the dog, attached right down to the skin. If any of you have tried to comb through a cotton ball, you will see it can't be done.

Yet, customers bring in a dog who hasn't seen a comb or brush in six months, is matted all over and say, "There's a few mats behind his ears, but he's OK everywhere else because I brush him everyday."

The dog ends up stripped down, the owner is annoyed, threatens never to return but waits still another six months before having the dog groomed again – somewhere else.

People think nothing of paying any amount of money to have their hair styled by a beautician. I have yet to hear a customer in a beauty salon argue with the owner about the price of his or her haircut.

And I, for one, don't believe any beautician should be so insulted as to try to justify the prices.

Yet, try charging $1 more for a groomed dog, and customers complain. It doesn't make sense. If the dog owner is charged $1 or $2 more for dog food, or a dog toy, does he complain?

Please, when you are a first-time customer at a grooming salon, tell the groomer whether or not your dog will accept the grooming or will try to bite. Many customers, upon picking up their dog, will say, "Oh, did Fido give you any trouble? The last place he went to won't accept him anymore because he bit the groomer!"

Then, others have asked whether the dog's grooming, since the dog was too aggressive to complete, should be free. (I think the next time I get a haircut, I will bite the beautician's hand, hard, and ask if my poor behavior warrants a free cut.) The people at Shear Creations would do well to charge me double, before kicking me out.

Try to understand that your dog's groomer works hard, physically laboring to make your dog look best. The groomer works with razor-sharp tools on a moving object. It isn't easy, and it takes time, patience and a dedication to animals, which should be appreciated, not taken for granted. Right, Alray?

3. Card of Thanks

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT. Holy Spirit. You who make me see everything, and who show me the way to reach my ideals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me. You who are in all the instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank You for Your love towards me and my loved ones. Person must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be, then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. C.H.

WE NEED A REPRESENTATIVE

Chronic absenteeism: on average, the State House meets about 100 or fewer days per year. But Representative Barns has only showed up over the last three years eighty-some percent of the time. This means her constituency was denied a roll-call vote 283 times.

When she does make a roll-call vote, it's not always in our interest. For example: five out of six times, year after year, she voted to send the city of Detroit $159 million total, while her own district receives none. (She is known by some as a "rubber stamp" for Coleman Young.) Mayor Coleman Young donates cash contributions to her campaign re-election fund - he must like her!

Ken Raupp is a contitutionalist, a tax reformer; he has taken the pledge not to raise one tax. He will vote against all waste and inefficiency. He will not accept one cent from special interests or lobbyists. If elected, the "For Sale" sign come off the House seat. He will vote only for the interest of the people in his district.*

U.S. Senate

Jim Dunn, Republican	Dick Jacobs, Libertarian	Sally Bier, Workers League	Mark L. Friedman, No Party
Biography
Dunn, 45, is married and has three children. An East Lansing resident for 20 years, he currently works as a homebuilder at the Dunn Development Group. He is a graduate of Birmingham High School and received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Michigan State University. He served in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1981 to 1983 and ran unsuccessfully for the U.S. Senate in 1984.	Jacobs, 44, is married and has three daughters. A Management Consultant living in Holland, Michigan. He is a 1962 graduate of Central Michigan University, with a B.S. in Liberal Arts/Communications. He ran as a 1981 candidate for Governor of Michigan.	Bier, 37, is a resident of Hamtramck, and is currently working for Blue Cross/Blue Shield. She is a graduate of Forest Hill High School and received a bachelor's degree in Social Sciences from Michigan State University.	Friedman, 36, a Detroit resident of 2 years, is currently working for Northwest Airlines, at Metro Airport, on the ground service crew. He is a 1969 high school graduate. He served as a U.S. Congressman from southern California in 1980.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
I believe the people of Michigan are not getting the quality of representation they deserve. It's difficult to see how a senator, such as Sen. Riegle, can truly represent his constituents and every region of the state when he has a 100 percent liberal voting record (1987 rating from the Americans for Democratic Action). I think 100 percent of anything can be excessive. I have the practical experience to produce jobs and promote economic development in both the private and public sector. As your next U.S. senator, I want to make it my job to protect your job.	I think the voters of Michigan have had enough and are ready to vote for a candidate who favors returning some common sense to government. It is for this reason, that I have decided to seek the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Don Riegle. Don Riegle is a special interest politician who opposes the balanced budget concept and supports both foreign and domestic special interest subsidies. I intend to give the people of Michigan an opportunity to send a senator to Washington, who is opposed to special interest subsidies and the welfare-warfare programs of the Republicans and Democrats.	For over ten years, there has been an ongoing attack on working people's standard of living. Employers have demanded wage and benefit cuts and have doubled and tripled workloads on some employees while throwing thousands of others into unemployment. Both major political parties have done little or nothing to speak up for the majority of the population against these attacks. In fact, they have jointly participated in passing legislation favorable to the corporations and against the interest of the working population.	Democrats and Republicans do not represent the interests of working people. They represent big businesses and the banks. Working people need to run this country in an alliance with working farmers. We need to stop union-busting, foreclosure of family farms, plant closings, and attacks on our standard of living. Local, state and federal governments should champion the struggles of working people for jobs, abortion rights, bilingual education, no nuclear waste dumps or any nukes.
What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?
I believe we must balance the federal budget. The massive deficit threatens the future of our children and future generation. I support a constitutional amendment to balance the federal budget. I also support the use of a line-item veto for the President. Another major issue facing us is the question of combating the drug problem. I think we must implement economic sanctions against countries which refust to comply with international drug laws, make greater use of our Coast Guard patrols where drug smuggling is suspected and legalize the death penalty for drug kingpins.	The number one issue is fiscal responsibility. We have a national debt of $2.3 trillion which is growing by $200 billion annually. We are bankrupting future generations of Americans - our grandchildren. We can balance our Federal Budget by cutting spending and not by increasing taxes. If we would support the recommendations of the Grace Commission and Presidential candidate Dr. Ron Paul, which would eliminate waste and fraud in government and end all subsidies corporate, social and foreign military. Elected officials salaries should also be frozen at a twenty percent reduced level, until our Federal Budget is balanced at substantially lower levels.	The major political and economic issue that confronts us today is the question of jobs. Increasingly, we see thousands of workers thrown into the streets by plant closings and speed-up. The current high levels of unemployment are not reflected in official job, nor the underemployed, working for reduced wages. The high unemployment and poverty it creates in turn intensifies the problems of drug abuse and violence in the working class communities. The situation has been worsened by politicians' cut in social services and payment of unemployment compensation, as well as cuts in school spending.	Unemployment and impending economic crisis - Propose; shorten the work week to 30 hours with 40 hours pay. Massive public works program to create jobs. Raise minimumw age to union scale wages ($10 + per hour). Jobs for All. Defend and expand affirmative action for women and minorities to make up for years of discrimination. Defend school desegregation thru busing, Pass the ERA Now! Cancel the Third World debt, these countries must not be forced to pay which would devastate their country. STOP farm foreclosures. Parity not charity. Defend Medicaid funding for abortions.

U.S. House – D-15

William D. Ford, Democrat	Burl C. Adkins, Republican
Ford, 60, is a 50-year Taylor resident with three children, he currently is a member of Congress 15th District. He is a 1945 graduate of Melvindale High School, 1949 University of Denver graduate, 1951 graduate of University of Denver Law School with B.S., J.D., and 16 honorary degrees. He served in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1964 to 1986, Michigan State Senate in 1962 and Taylor Township Justice of the Peace in 1955.	Adkins, 36, is married with two children, four year resident of Southgate, total of 15 years in 15th District, and is the current owner of Global Technology Assoc. LTD He is a 1969 graduate of Southgate High School and attended Wayne County Community College. He ran as Representative to Congress in 1986.
After twenty-four years in Congress, I have acquired substantial seniority which gives me a stronger base to represent Michigan's best interests. As a senior, ranking member of the House of Education and Labor Committee, I have helped write significant legislation extending student aid to working class families, improving job training programs, protecting pension benefits, improving standards for safety in the workplace and supplying supplemental reading and math programs for elementary and secondary school students. I am also the Chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.	Current political leaders are not addressing the fundamental problems morally, economically, defense spending, etc.
Reducing the deficit to restore confidence in our economy.	Taxes – I oppose unfair tax breaks for foreign imports forcing American taxpayers to make up the difference. I am also against any effort to increase your federal taxes. Trade – I am opposed to ex-U.S. government elected and appointed official's influence pedaling as foreign lobbyists to the detriment of American industry for 5 years after leaving office. Jobs – I support eliminating U.S. taxpayer subsidies to foreign transplants (Mazda) that are responsible for the loss of U.S. automotive jobs. Senior Citizens – I believe that senior citizens should have reduced tax rates.

U.S. House – D-17

Sander Levin, Democrat	Dennis Flessland, Republican	Charles L. Hahn, Libertarian
Levin, 57, is married with four children, a six year resident of Southfield, and a member of the United States House of Representatives. He graduated from Central High School, Detroit, 1944-1948; University of Chicago, BA, 1952; Columbia University, MA, 1954 and Harvard University, Law, 1957. In 1982, he was elected to U.S. House of Representatives; re-elected 1984 and 1986; Michigan State Senator, 1965-1970.	Flessland, 34, married with one daughter, is a resident of Hungton Woods, and is an attorney at Wierzbicki Flessland P.C. He graduated from Avondale High School, attended Michigan State University where he earned a B.A. with high honors, also received a J.D. at University of Illinois. He served as State Representative in 1984.	Hahn, 37, is married and has 2 children, currently residing in Pleasant Ridge, is employed at Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit as second V.P. and Legal Officer. He graduated from Cass Tech High School in 1969, attended and graduated from Eastern Michigan University in 1973 with a B.A., also earned J.D. at California Western School of Law in 1979.
These past six years as a member of Congress have been among the most rewarding of my life. The office of United States Representative provides me with an extraordinary opportunity to listen to the hopes and concerns of the 500,000 people I represent, to take what I hear back to the national legislature. As a Congressman, I am able to provide real assistance to the hundreds of families and individuals who are daily having dealings with the federal government, whether it is a lost Social Security check or finding out how to apply for a loan to help refurbish a business district.	I am running for Congress because I believe that it is time for a change. During the last 20 years, the United States has suffered the terror of drug abuse, the decline of our education system, the decay of our cities, the spread of crime and an out-of-control spending process. The only constant during this time is Democratic control of the House of Representatives; for over 30 years, one party has dominated the Congress, and this unchallenged command has resulted in the scandals and abuses of power by Speaker Jim Wright and the House leadership.	I want to see government get out of the lives of its citizens and protect, not violate, their individual liberties. The Democrats and Republicans have failed to protect freedom and have promoted Big Brother government – I want to change that situation.
Good jobs at goods wages are what the 1988 campaign is all about. From this basic platform can be built the hopes that are the American dream. Without them comes the despair that has devoured so many through lives of drug addiction, crime and the cycle of poverty. In 1988, the country is going to decide if we are going to continue to run from our problems, like the budget and trade deficits, or if we are going to turn our faces to the future and pull together. I had the distinct honor this year of serving on the Democratic Platform Committee.	Reducing the federal budget deficit by: 1) Adopting the Line-Item Veto; 2) Reforming the budget process; 3) Restricting the use of continuing resolutions. Combating crime and drug abuse: 1) Make drug users accountable-restrict driving privileges and government programs to repeat offenders; 2) Establish civil fines and strengthen forfeiture laws to seize the drug trade profits; 3) Attack the source of drugs with an international strike force and allow the military to share more information with the Customs Service and Border Patrol.	The Federal Deficit and the proper role of government. Real spending reductions: a) no more corporate or personal subsidies; b) reduce excess military spending by letting Europe defend itself-as well as Japan and Korea. Government. a) No more economic controls – (most laws are such); b) repeal the income tax and eliminate the IRS.

State House – D-21

Lynn F. Owen, Democrat
Owen, 42, is married with 2 children, has been a resident of Monroe Co. for 36 years, and holds office as State Representative. He is a graduate of Willow Run High School, attended Washtenaw Community College and Cerritos Junior College.
I have been State Representative since Richard Sullivan died in 1984.
Quality of life is number one. I have worked hard bringing money into Monroe County creating jobs, bringing in businesses, developing areas which have been stagnant for years. I've worked to keep taxes down, raise the quality of education for our children, keep landfills out of the county, preserve and protect wetlands and wildlife, create laws regulating incinerator ash and other pollutants, solve the drought problem for our residents and farmers, etc.

STATE OFFICES

State House – D-33

James G. Schmitz, Republican
Biography
Schmitz, 59, is married with 4 children, and has been a life long resident of Michigan, currently living in Monroe for the past 14 years, and is employed in sales at Best Block Co. He graduated from Monroe High School, and earned an Associates Degree in Real Estate from University of Michigan. He served as Co. Commissioner in 1982 and State Representative in 1984, 1986.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
I do not like the amount of taxation being levied. I do not believe enough is being done to clean up the environment. I believe that business is taking the brunt of taxation that is being passed on to the taxpayer through hidden taxation.
What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?
Property taxes; too high; Environment: needs cleanup; Michigan Budget: up 51% in 5 years; Crime: Drugs; Incarceration: to expensive; Detroit: spends taxpayers money without regard for taxpayers; Education: want more for dollar, highest paid teachers in the nation. 17th Scholastic Level!; NO MORE MONEY FOR DETROIT.

State House – D-36

William R. Keith, Democrat
Keith, 58, is married with six children and has been living in Garden City for 30 years, presently in the House of Representatives. He graduated from Wilbur Wright High School and attended University of Michigan and American Institute of Banking. He served on the Garden City School Board.
16 years experience – Chairman of the House of Education Committee during a time of profound pressures confronting out K-12 Education delivery system and its financing. I have and will continue to be a primary sponsor of financila institutional reform legislation.
School Finance Reform, Youth Employment, Early Childhood Programs, Crime and Drug Control.

State House – D-37

Gerald H. Law, Republican	James A. Kosteva, Democrat
Law, 44, is married with two children, is a present State of Michigan Representative, living 17 years in the 36th District, Plymouth. He graduated from Detroit Catholic Central, earn a B.S. and M.B.A. at University of Detroit and a J.D. at Wayne State Law School. He served as Township Trustee in 1978 and 1980, also State Representative 1983-present.	Kosteva, 36, with two children, has lived in Canton the past nine years and is currently State of Michigan Representative. He graduated from Franklin High School in 1970, earned a B.A. in Metropolitan Studies in 1974, also attended University of Michigan and American University. He served 3 1/2 years as State Representative, 1985 to present.
Having been involved in education, business and law, I have found that my involvement in government to be the most satisfying. With a diverse background, I feel that I have a great deal of experience to offer the citizens of the 36th District and the State of Michigan.	Each of us as citizens have a responsibility to contribute in some fashion to out self-government. I have the desire and I believe, the skills to speak and work effectively for the people of the 37th District.
1) Improve the respectability and credibility of state government; 2) Increase state support for public education; 3) Reform the property tax structure; 4) Improve solid waste management in Michigan; 5) Promote economic development and regulate relief; 6) Protect Michigan's natural resources and environment; 7) Welfare reform.	Property Taxes/School Finance – The property taxes are too high and have too great an influence in how schools are funded. Greater statewide equity in K-12 funding is necessary to insure each child has an opportunity to obtain a quality education. Solid Waste, Landfills and Environmental Quality – Realistic alternates to landfills must be pursued. Existing landfills must be regulated and monitored to provide maximum environmental protection and minimal residential interference. Reducing Drug use and Crime.

State House – D-38

David Dossette, Republican
Dossette, 49, is married with three children, he has been living in Romulus for seven years and is a free-lance photographer. He graduated from Monroe High School in 1957, attended Wayne State University and is currently a senior at WSU.
I feel that the people of Michigan deserve an alternative to the big spending that is going on in Lansing. I feel that much of what is legislated into law is "rubber-stamping' and that it does not represent the will of the majority of the people. With the year 2000 just about 4000 days away we need to see that our capital is wisely used to insure the future for our children and grandchildren.
As I stated before, the fuel that drives the engine of state is capital. If Michigan is to return to a position of leadership among the states, we will need to learn to be wiser with our monies. Many programs brought on line in this state are nice but the salient question remains are they cost effective? Will the external deficiencies of the program be outweighed by the internal virtues of the program? And, if we cannot answer these questions, will be have the courage to eliminate those defective programs?

Board of Regents, University of Michigan

Kenneth Raupp, Republican	F. Thomas Lewand, Democrat	Deane Baker, Republican	Clifford W. Taylor, Republican	John A. Salvette, Liberterian
Biography
Raupp, 41, is married with four children, is a life long resident of Westland, and is currently employed at Ford Motor Company in engine development testing. He attended Wayne High School, earned GED in Navy, and is working toward Electrical Engineering degree at Wayne County Community College.	Lewand, 42, is married with four children. A Birmingham resident of 4 years, who is a public finance and bond counselor at Jaffe, Snider, Raitt and Heuer. He graduated from Sacred Heart Seminary High School, received a J.D. magna cum laude from Wayne State University Law School and a B.A. from the University of Detroit.	Baker, 63, is married with four children and an Ann Arbor resident for 23 years. He is employed at The Ann Arbor Group Incorporated as President of development and building company. He graduated from Washington Park High School, received at B.B.A. from University of Wisconsin and an M.B.A. from Harvard University.	Taylor, 45, is married with two children and a 17 year resident of East Lansing. He is employed at Partner at Denfield, Timmer & Taylor, Attorneys, as a trial lawyer. He graduated from Flint Central High School, earned a B.A. from University of Michigan and a L.L.B. from George Washington University.	Salvette, 33, is married with two children, is a Bloomfield Hills resident and who is employed at Stahl Manufacturing Company as Vice President and Chief Financial Officer. He graduated from Cranbrook School, earned a B.A. in Economics from the University of Michigan and M.B.A. in Finance and Accounting from University of Chicago.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
With our present representative I feel we're not represented. I would vote for the district and not the party – I would not take money from outside the district, only from the citizens within. If I am elected, the "For Sale" sign or "For Rent" sign comes off the seat. Any special interest will have to redouble their effort in a different district – this one will not be for sale! I believe as district representative, I have the common good and welfare of the taxpayers and citizens consciously focused before the special interest groups.	The University of Michigan is one of our State's finest assets. It has major fiscal problems which have caused spiralling tuition increases in recent years. As a public finance expert, I can help solve those problems.	To serve the people of Michigan in expanding opportunities in the following areas of higher education: 1) to provide the highest possible quality of public education at the lowest possible cost; 2) to provide a broad range of services to the citizens of Michigan; 3) to accomplish pure and applied research and transfer that knowledge; 4) to work with the alumni of the University; 5) to keep the University of Michigan free.	I feel the University would benefit from a conservative viewpoint on the Board of Regents. In addition, I have deep affection for the University as not only did I attend school there, but also did many members of my family.	I feel it is important to provide alternatives and new directions to the University before it loses its excellence as an educational institution.
What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?
Refuses to represent district; Rubber stamp for Coleman Year, has voted to send $159 million state funds to city of Detroit and they call this (Michigan Equity Package). Every time the state bungles, she votes for tax increase, such as the subsidy ($800,000) for the Siverdome after it makes a profit. She votes for approval of the Agricultural budget which contains over $1 million for "horse breeder awards". She voted approval for the Department of Corrections budget that included over $20,000 for artists' supplies and education for the prisoners when it is know that some of our school children do not have funding for at classes	The overriding issue is the spiralling cost of higher education. The solutions are complex but fall into three categories: 1) Contain costs while maintaining standards; 2) Eliminate needless duplication of programs at various major universities; 3) Increase the State support of higher education, which has fallen to the 37th lowest in the nation.	Controlling the tuition and cost of higher education. Seek additional sources of funding for higher education. Increase research efforts to develop new knowledge. To balance the in-state/out-state student ratios. To maintain academic freedom at the University of Michigan. To build recognition of basic American values in the University. Expanding educational opportunities for Michigan young people.	Racial problems on the Ann Arbor campus – There is perceived difficulty along this line and the University must address it by the assiduous recruiting of minority students and faculty feel appreciated and valued. Free Speech – For too long moderate and conservative voices have been shouted down at the University. This conduct cannot be tolerated as it is antithetical to the concept of intellectual inquiring. On the Board of Regents, I would undertake to insure that appropriate sanctions and other disciplinary procedures exist so as to insure that those would disrupt speakers are unable to do so.	The University of Michigan cannot be all things to all people. The Board must ensure the proper allocation and focusing of the University's resources to continue to cultivate its strengths, while eliminating departments and schools that are marginal. The Board must ensure that the University can act as an autonomous institution, no longer reliant on the State of Michigan for funding, or control.

Biography
Economy, 49, is married, has three sons and has lived in Farmington Hills for 9 years. He is employed at Michigan Bell Telephone Co. where he is assistant to the President. He graduated from Mumford High School, earned a BA from University of Michigan in 1965 and a MBA from Michigan State University in 1983.	Dumouchelle, 56, is married with four children and has been living in Grosse Ile for 24 years. She is a homemaker, Board member and Michigan Education Trustee. She graduated from St. Mary's High School, earned a B.A. (magna cum laude) and a D.H.L. (hon). She served on the State Board of Education 1968, 1978, 1986; Grosse Ile Township Treasurer, 1970.	Lundy, 63, is married with eight children, 42 year resident of Grosse Pointe, and is employed as administrator – chief executive officer at the League of Catholic Women of Detroit. She graduate at Ladywood High School and earned a B.S., major in Philosophy, summa cum laude, at the University of Detroit.	Kaufman, 60, widower with three children, a resident of Huntington Woods for the past 30 years and is a 20 year Veteran Art and Ceramics Teacher of Farmington Public School System. She received a Bachelor of Science degree at Wayne State University, Masters of Education 1970, and Ed Specialist, 1975.	Tisch, 68, married with five children, a resident of Laingsburg for 34 years, he is self-employed and semi-retired. He graduated from Jackson High School, received various Associates degrees from Michigan State University, University of Florida and USAF Military.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
I want all students, not just my own children, to have the opportunity for a first-rate, quality education through our public school system. My business makes me keenly aware of the challenges of balancing budgets, as well as the importance of developing effective strategies that address near-and long-term needs. I believe in the preservation of human rights of choice and bring a philosophy to the race which is more liberal yet studied and analytical.	My many years pf service on public education boards indicates my interest. The State Board of Education is the most important position in Michigan Education. I have served well and wish to continue.	I decided to seek a seat on the State Board of Education because I believe that effective educational reform will come about only as a result of more openness on the part of the educational establishment to the community and to what leads to success in other area of American society. To achieve this, I believe there must be more community and parental representation, along with the professional educators and union representatives, on the policy making boards.	To provide leadership and a new direction on the Board of Education based upon 20 years of classroom teaching and my experience as a parent and taxpayer and educator. I have educated myself, my children, and three generations of students.	Commitment to funding equity since 1978 tax initiative. It is time we focus on the gap between what the public is led to believe about public education in Michigan and what is actually taking place. Time to stress the fundamentals of reading, writing, mathematics, speaking and most of all the ability to "think" as primary goals.
What do you feel are the major issues and what are your opinions of each?
Most important issue is strengthening the public school system of Michigan so that our students become full contributors to society. A fragmental public/private/home school system cannot provide equal opportunities to our youth. Several steps must be taken to assure a strong public school system: private/public sector partnerships must be developed so that students are being prepared to meet the challenges of the more competitive global environment; strong liberal arts curriculum must be developed to complement training in math and science; talented teachers must be rewarded for their contributions to our educational system and provided with appropriate incentives to remain with the profession.	Educational Finance Reform – ongoing problem. I support formal change. Curriculum – core curriculum needs study adoption. Choice of school – within district – should be enacted. Testing of prospective teachers should be strengthened. Higher education needs planning and coordination.	a) Educational financing reform – I support lowering the share of taxes for education and increasing the sales tax for two reasons - 1) to provide more equitable distribution of education resources to all children, and - 2) to promote stronger community and state development as a result of lower property taxes. b)Academic improvement – I support more emphasis on core curriculum; parental choice for schools in the district which would increase parental involvement; and more local autonomy for schools which would increase incentives for principals and teachers and improve accountability to local communities.	The major issue is excellence in education. We all must live on a budget. Our schools do so based upon state law and their responsibility to the public. We must insure that our schools are adequately funded and at the same time we have a responsibility to insure that our students are properly educated so that they can make the proper choices regarding their future employment and educational choices. We must also put into place a better system of local school finance with targets local monies directly to the schools without the state benefiting from local education dollars. We have a system of local school finance that needs improvement. We must reward our homeowners and not overtax them with higher and higher millage requirements.	Teacher Tenure, Taxes/funding as they relate to equitable/equivalent funding for each school district. When elected, I will work vigorously to effect treatment for each and every student. We need to develop academic and vocational programs that create and promote competition among schools and give parents a "choice of where our school tax money is best able to educate their children.

Biography
Weiss, 49, is married with three children. A Grand Blanc resident for 25 years, he is employed as Prosecuting Attorney for Genesee County. A graduate of the University of Detroit Law School in 1963 and received J.D., attended Michigan State University in 1958-59 and Flint Junior College in 1956-58, also graduated from Flint Central High School in 1956.	Liebler, 49, is a resident of Brown City. He graduated from Brown City High School, earned a Bachelor's degree in Science from Michigan State University. Post graduate degree in Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, Michigan State University, Juris Doctor degree from Thomas Cooley Law School.	Jackson, 61, widower with two children and a Detroit resident for 59 years. He graduated from Detroit Public Schools and attended Wayne State University earning a Master's in the teaching of college humanities.	Van Dusen, 63, is married with three children and a 40 year resident of Birmingham. He is employed at Dickinson, Wright, Moon, Van Dusen & Freeman as a senior partner and Chairman. He served as Michigan House of Representatives; 1954, Attorney General of Michigan, 1956; Board of Governors, Wayne State University, 1980.	Freeman, 45, is an Assoc. Professor of Accounting at the University of Windsor. He graduated from Berkley High School, earned Ph.D. Accounting, B.S. Mathematics, at Michigan State University, and a M.B.A. Finance at Wayne State University. He served as Wayne County Treasurer, 1972.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
I chose to run for the Trustee position because I firmly believe that M.S.U. is an important asset to the State of Michigan through the quality of educational opportunities it provides to a vast number of people. The availability of an education allows interested individuals the chance to benefit themselves and consequently benefit society. Through the educational and research efforts at M.S.U., many of the ills and shortcomings of our society can be addressed and solved.	I have always been a strong supporter of M.S.U. I feel that by seeking this office I can contribute to M.S.U. I have been given a great exposure by being educated at M.S.U. and I want to return some of what was given to me.	I have served eight years as a member of the WSU Board of Governors, I was a student at Wayne State; I also served as a faculty member and an administrator.	N/A	To reestablish the unique mission of the University, namely an institution designed to challenge students and faculty to understand conceptual phenomena. Implementation would require that citizens understand that free market forces at all educational levels is required to change our current, costly, ineffective top-down approach to an efficient, valued bottom-up approach. You cannot build a pyramid from the top down nor an educational system. You must start with the first grade and work up.
What do you feel are the major issues and what are your opinions of each?
The major long-term problems facing the Trustees of Michigan State University are: (1) containing costs to make quality higher education affordable to all in our state who are qualified and wish to take advantage of the opportunity to better themselves; (2) maintaining the high quality of education at M.S.U.; (3) continuing the high level of research being conducted at M.S.U., and especially directing it beyond theory by applying it to the solution of societal problems.	Finances – The University is in a deficit budget position and this must be addressed at once. The faculty salaries are among the lowest in the Big 10. This must be corrected. The legislation and the government have been unwilling to fund the University at the proper level. Autonomy of the University – The University is a constitutionally created entity and must remain that way. There have been attempts to bring the University under the control of the governor. This must not happen.	WSU could spend more of its time and energy studying the environmental impact that the Metropolitan area imposes on the total development of the University in all its aspects. The study of University management and organization too often stresses internal process and "measures" or "models" and neglects the impact of the environment and the interaction between, and interdependence of, the organization and its environment.	N/A	The major issues are reestablishing the university's true mission, increasing the degree of autonomy, and reducing unnecessary administrative costs. The university must communicate forcefully to the appropriate secondary education officials the need to implement and emphasize a rigorous college preparatory curriculum. The university's goal cannot be to redo what grades K-12 failed to do. To increase quality while containing or reducing cost of the Board must influence the citizens of Michigan of the benefits derived from creating an environment whereby universities would be responsible to free market forces.

He served as Judge: Circuit Court - 1986; Wayne County Charter Commission.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
The practice of law has been my avocation as well as my vocation, and I have always been dedicated to public service. When I was appointed to the judiciary it fulfilled a lifetime ambition, and I still derive immense enjoyment in the pursuit of justice.	I am running for reelection to continue the programs instituted in the last three years to reduce the backlog of cases and expedite movement through the system.	The challenge presented to a trial judge to know the law and apply the law fairly and impartially; the satisfaction in knowing that the work you do has importance and significance.	Mainly because I believe I am better qualified than a number of other contenders, who have less judicial experience. Circuit Judge is an elective office, and people have a right to expect that circuit judges will not go year after year with no opposition. It has been over 12 years since any incumbent circuit judge has been challenged; it is my belief the electorate is not well-served by some incumbent judges who were originally appointed on a partisan basis and have never faced elective opposition.	I am seeking reelection to my present position. I was appointed by the Governor in 1981, was elected in 1982, and still am enjoying my work and think I am making a positive contribution to the justice system.	I decided to seek reelection so that I can continue working hard for the citizens of Wayne County and to improve the quality of their lines by sending criminals to jail.	For almost 20 years I have served this community as a judge. Before that, I practiced law for 16 or 17 years. I find great satisfaction in the work I do. I believe that I can best serve the citizens of Wayne County by continuing my work as a Circuit Judge.	It is a fascinating job, which I handle credibly.	I am running for reelection to my present seat on the bench.	After over two successful years on the bench, I would like to continue serving the citizens and taxpayers of the county. I believe I can offer the kind of judicial service which the citizens and taxpayers deserve and expect.
What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?
Issues: What can be done to deal with case backlogs, court delays, excessive litigation costs, and the lack of housing for convicted felons? Opinions: As an outspoken exponent of Docket reform, and Alternative Dispute Resolution I volunteered to take part in an experimental program which established individual dockets for participating judges. The housing problem will unfortunately require the expenditure of tax dollars to provide additional maximum and minimum security facilities, half-way houses and special alternative workcamps. We cannot continue to release convicted felons because of a shortage of space.	The major issue is commitment to the individual docket. I am committed to it. It frustrates accountability for each judge, while reducing the backlog and expediting cases.	Experience.	Issue: Some circuit judges are failing to exhibit proper judicial temperament and demeanor on the bench. Position: Judicial Canon 3(A)(34) requires that "A" judge should be patient, dignified and courteous to litigants, jurors, witnesses, lawyers and others with whom he deals in his official capacity...	I think the major issue of this or any judicial election is qualifications. I think my extensive judicial history is a strong indication of my ability to do the job satisfactory to the community.	To expedite the trial and disposition of cases without sacrificing the quality of justice. The solution is individual dockets which advocate for 12 years and which our Court began in 1986 and will complete in 2 more years. Tough enforcement of the criminal laws. Concern for the victims of crime.	Reduction of delay in the process of litigation is an important goal. I believe that individual accountability brought about by the individual calendar assignments of judges if a definite step in the right direction. We also need to strive to make the court system more "user friendly." It is important that judges control their own docket to be certain that cases are disposed of promptly, fairly and correctly.	A credibility problem with the community. Trial delay.	To keep experienced Circuit Court judges on the bench. In my opinion, there is no substitute for experience as a Circuit Judge to give one the knowledge and background to deal with complex issues and to move cases in an orderly and efficient manner but still to assure a fair trial for all.	Whether or not the court, as an institution will be able to meet the demand for judicial economy while at the same time do justice for and on behalf of litigants.

Michigan Supreme Court

James H. Brickley	Richard D. Johnston	Jerry J. Kaufman	Marvin R. Stempien
Biography
Brickley, 59, is married, the father of six children and lives in Traverse City. He is currently on the Michigan Supreme Court. He is a 1964 graduate of the University of Detroit Law School and earned a master's degree in public and administrative law from New York University. He served as Chief Assistant Prosecutor for Wayne County in 1967,	Johnston, 48, is married with three children, and is a 48 year resident of Macomb County. He is currently self-employed in general law. He graduated from L'Anse Creuse High School, attended Macomb County Community College, University of Detroit and earned a J.D. at the Detroit College of Law.	Kaufman, 34, has lived in Huntington Woods all his life, and employed at Jerry J. Kaufman & Associates, P.C. as specialized in tax and labor law with emphasis in consumer finance, consumer health and environmental issues. He graduated from Dondero High School, earned a B.A., Juris Doctor, Master of Laws degree from Wayne State University and Wayne State University	Stempien, 55, is married with four children and a four year resident of Plymouth. He is employed at the Third Judicial Circuit Court of Mich. (Wayne County). He graduated from Univ/Detroit High School, earned B.B.A. from University of Michigan; J.D. at the Detroit College of Law. He served as 35th District State Rep., 1964, 1966, 1968, 1970; Second District Congress, 1972; Circuit Court Judge,
Why did you decide to seek this office?
My career in public service has extended through all levels of government – municipal, county, state, and federal.	N/A	To bring top to bottom court reform to the Michigan Supreme Court. To expedite the adjudication of cases. To stop the practice of Justices accepting political action committee and special interest money. To stop the use of satellite office in Traverse City. To force the Supreme Court to sit together as one deliberative body. To insure that there is top to bottom court reform in Michigan. Our justices must not be absentee justices, they must work a full days work for a full days pay. The Supreme Court must not deliberate through Sprint, MCI or AT&T.	I was asked to run by the Michigan Democratic party.
What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?
N/A	He believes there should be a shift in emphasis from the rights of criminals to the rights of innocent victims. Richard believes that this year's ballot proposal establishing victim rights in the State of Michigan is a step in the right direction. The judiciary should be practicing the art of judicial interpretation and not spectacle of lawmaking. There is too much judicially imposed governmental regulation of private enterprise.	The major issue in this election is the inadequacy of the operation and efficiency of the Michigan Supreme Court and the inability and inadequacy of the Justices to campaign in the community to stand up for their records. It is time to make the Michigan Supreme Court accountable with Jerry J. Kaufman, an attorney dedicated to full time justice and dedicated to removing special interest money from the court justices making it illegal for justices of the Supreme Court to accept political action committee money.	Canon 7 of the Michigan Code of Judicial Conduct prohibits a candidate for judicial office, including an incumbent judge from making any statements, pledges or promises of conduct in office other than faithful and impartial performance of the duties of the office. The code allows a candidate, including an incumbent judge to present his identity, qualifications, present position or other facts. In compliance with the code, I can only refer you to my record of past decisions in public office on a broad spectrum of issues of concern to working people.

First District Appeals Court

Y. Gladys Barsamian	Thomas J. Brennan	Richard P. Hathaway	Maureen P. Reilly
Biography
Barsamain, 56, has been a Plymouth resident for 12 years and has been involved in provate practice as a judge for 17 years. She graduated from Detroit Public - Cass Technical High School, 1950; earned a B.A. at Wayne State in 1953 and J.D. in 1956. She served as Wayne County Probate Judge - 1968, 1974, 1980, 1986 to present.	Brennan, 66, is married with three children and has been a Dearborn resident for 35 years. he is currently employed as Wayne County Circuit Judge. He graduated from Catholic Central High, attended University of Detroit and earned a Juris Doctor at Detroit College of Law. He served as Wayne Circuit Judge, 1972 to present and State Board of Education 1965-1973. President 1965-1967.	Hathaway, 39, is married with two children and has lived in Wayne all his life. He is employed at Wayne County Circuit Court. He graduated from Catholic Central High School, attended St. John's University, NY and University of Detroit, graduate school and law school earning a B.A., M.A. English Literature; J.D. He served in Record's Court - 1980; Circuit Court - 1984;	Reilly, 53, is married with three children, currently living in Grosse Pointe, and presently employed at Wayne County Circuit Court (Judge). She graduated from Dominican High School, earned L.L.B. (Cum laude) from University of Detroit and Undergraduate School. She served as Wayne County Circuit Court – 1976.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
The Court of Appeals has more of a policy role than the trial court. After 30 years experience at the trial level, I would like to be part of the policy setting process, particularly as it related to criminal and family matters, which are over 70% of the Court of Appeals docket.	My legal and personal life had been dedicated to public service. As a Judge on the Court of Appeals, I would still be involved in public services. The level of service would be expanded, as would be my responsibilities.	I have served as a visiting Appeals Judge in the past year and enjoyed the challenge.	The Court of Appeals offers the opportunity to decide a broad range of legal issues on appeal from all the lower State courts and administrative agencies, many of which are not considered by circuit court judge.
What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?
The major problem facing the Court of Appeals today, is volume, which cause delay and backlogs, effects quality of work and impacts the public perception of the judicial system. I would look at possible solutions, such as adequate funding of the Court system, use of new and modern technology, alternate dispute resolution, appeal by leave vs. right.	Crime control and following the law to ensure justice in each individual case before the court.	N/A	The major long-term problems facing the Court of Appeals primarily relate to the increased case load which reflects ever-increasing filings at the trial level.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE

District 9

Vincent J. Petitpren	Ted Scott
Biography
Petitpren, 60, is married and has lived in Westland for 33 years. He is employed as a Biology teacher at Detroit Public Schools. He graduated St. Mary's High School, earned a B.A. and Teachers Cert., M.A. at Eastern Michigan University, Ph. D. Higher Ed. Adm. W.S.U. He served as Westland councilman, State Rep., State Senator, Wayne-Westland School Board.	Scott, 52, has three children and has resided in Westland for 29 years. He is employed at County of Wayne, Safety Director. He graduated from Pomeroy High, attended W.C.C.C., earned B.A. at Madonna College, and Assoc. at Washtenaw C.C. He served on the School Board-Wayne Schools, 1963.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
I have the higher educational experience and professional qualifications to contribute to the improvement of the W.C.C.C. needs. I was a teacher at E.M.U. for four years, administrative assistant to President Geo. Gullen at W.S.U. for eight years and chairman of Colleges and Universities committee for six years during the college unrest in the 60's, I have also served on the local school board for six years. I have a total of 27 years experience in education.	I hope to continue the work of the present Trustee who has chosen not to run again this time. I believe in the goals of the college and that I can serve effectively.
What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?
Financial – W.C.C.C. have staff and facilities that are overloading the budget. Credibility - Past history of having non-experienced and non-qualified presidents and staff resulting in fantasic waste severely damaged the respect of our community. Enrollment - Closer professional association of the high school, adult education counselors with the counselors of W.C.C.C. and the establishment of transferable credits to other institutions would be a great assistance.	1)Accreditation of the college; 2) Credibility of the college, administration and trustee; 3) Funding.

WAYNE COUNTY

County officers

John D. O'Hair (Democrat)	Donnely Haden (Republican)	Robert A. Ficano (Democrat)

Biography

O'Hair, 58, is married, with one son, is a lifelong resident of Wayne County, and is presently Wayne County Prosecutor.

He attended Detroit University School, DePauw University Detroit College of Law and received a B.A. and J.D.

He served at Detroit Common Pleas Court (1964); Wayne County Circuit Court (1968, 1974, 1980); Wayne County Prosecutor (1984).

Haden, 54, is married with one daughter, and has been a Detroit resident for 27 years. He has been self-employed as a private practice lawyer.

He graduated from Otsego High School, earned a B.A. from Michigan State University and a J.D. from University of Michigan Law School.

Ficano, 36, is married with two children and has been a Livonia resident for 31 years. He is presently employed at the Wayne County Sheriff's Department at Chief Law Enforcement Office and Administrator.

He graduated from Stevenson High School, earned at B.A. from Michigan State University in 1974, and a J.D. from University of Detroit Law School in 1977.

Why did you decide to seek this office?

I feel as the Wayne County Prosecutor I can contribute significantly to the efficient administration of justice. Fundamental to the responsibilities of the Prosecutor's Office are commitment and professional competence to make the local criminal justice system functions efficiently and effectively as possible. Good working relationships with government agencies, police agencies, the courts and the community are imperative. I have the commitment and qualifications to get these jobs done.

N/A

As Sheriff, I am working towards solutions for jail overcrowding and improved drug enforcement as well as day to day department administration. These long term problems require experience in office, enthusiasm and dedication to the people of Wayne County.

What do you feel are the major issues in this election?

The major long-term problems facing the Wayne County Prosecutor are basically the same ones confronting the criminal justice system. Specifically, the problems are: inadequate funding, insufficient detention facilities to meet critical needs; the absence of substantive programs as alternatives to incarceration; the inability to prevent juveniles from becoming delinquent and involved in criminal activities; and, the inability to deal effectively with the local drug crisis.

The long term solution to much of the crime in our community is dealing more effectively with our terrible drug problem through an intense and sustained educational process.

N/A

The shortage of jail space and the excavation of the use and trafficking of illegal drugs are the most critical problems facing the Criminal Justice System. Maximizing the use of jail space in present facilities, finding existing locations suitable for conversion to jail space, and/or building new structures to house inmates are essential solutions to alleviate overcrowding. the expansion of the Drug Unit working cooperatively with Wayne County Municipalities combined with education of our children will impact on this national problem.

He graduated from St. Rita High School, attended University of Detroit and Michigan State.

He served as Register of Deeds, 1976, 1980 and 1984.

Barns, 63, is a widow and has two children. She has lived in Westland for 42 years and has a GED certificate from the Dearborn schools.

A state representative since 1983, Barns was formerly a member of the Westland Charter Commission, the Westland City Council and the Wayne County Charter Commission.

Why did you decide to seek this office?

The County Clerk's Office is the nerve center of public service in Wayne County. Everything from elections, marriages, births, small businesses and lawsuits are regulated some way by the County Clerk's Office.

I became County Clerk to try to improve service to taxpyaers and ensure that their statutory and civil rights are protected.

Since I have been the registrar of deeds since the year, 1976 – I have accomplished a great deal, however, I wish to continue in this capacity as the registrar to complete the many more challenges that have arisen since the move to the International Center Building at 400 Monroe.

I am a political personality. I like working with people. I like volunteer work. And I've done a great deal of that.

I started some issues in Norwayne. I knew I had to get within the system and not stand outside and throw stones. I started with the charter commission in 1964.

I have a lot of energy. I have the time. That's a positive way of being involved with people.

What do you feel are the major issues in this election?

The major issue, if there is any, is how to improve public service in the face of shrinking resources and changing societal demands. Technology will play a major role in meeting future needs but new technology alone is not the answer.

Wayne County will need experience administrators who understand the public's needs, to know how to introduce technology in a reasonable and appropriate way, without sacrificing public service.

To serve the citizens of Wayne County who as taxpayers deserve the best.

Education, what we do for the prescription medicine bill for seniors. That came out of our committee. It's a big issue.

I'm very concerned about an Alzheimer's center in Westland. The goal is a research center for Alzheimer's patients. I think it's a very critical thing. We need money. We need property tax relief for our home. We need new money for education.

I'm talking about the whole umbrella. I think the big issue is the funding of education in Michigan.

JUSTINE BARNS OPPOSES A NEW COUNTY JAIL AT ELOISE (Palmer and Henry Ruff roads). It would be unsafe for neighbors and safety officials; and the land should be used for new businesses to bring in more jobs and additional property tax relief.

Her Major Legislation:

CHEIF SPONSOR OF THE NEW CRIME FORFEITURE LAW - taking the profit out of crime. It allows the courts to confiscate any real property (warehouses, businesses, etc.) and personal property (boats, cars, etc.) used in connection with a crime.

- Chief sponsor of the "local lock-up" bill giving local police departments control over their lock-ups (jails); this saved Westland over $900,000 in unneeded construction costs.
- Chief sponsor of the much-publicized "double-bunking" law, which allows two prisoners in a jail cell.

Biography

Louis P. Banoati

Banoati, 67, is married with two children and is a 61 year resident of Belleville. He is a retired tool and die maker from Ford Motor Co.

He graduated from Belleville High School.

Rex R. Ryckman

Ryckman, 47, is married with two children and a 10 year resident of Sumpter. He is self-employed in Life & Insurance Sales.

He graduated from Clawson High School, attended Industry Schooling.

He is currently serving as Sumpter's Republican Delegate for the last six years.

Joan L. Oddy

Oddy, 46, is married with three children, and has lived in Sumpter since 1979. She has been Sumpter Township Clerk since 1984.

She graduated from Riverview High School, attended Northern Michigan University, Eastern Michigan University, University of Michigan, Wayne County Community College, earned an Associate of Science.

She has served as Township Clerk since 1984.

John W. Morgan

Morgan, 55, is married with two children, has been a Sumpter resident for 12 years and is employed as a teacher at Romulus Community Schools.

He graduated from Okolona Industrial High School, E.M.U. - B.S., Elem. Ed. - E.M.U., M.A. Ed. Adm. - E.M.U.

He served as Township Trustee - 1978, 1980, 1984.

Why did you decide to seek this office?

Louis P. Banoati

By being in office, I can keep in touch with township residents. I can share their problems and resolve them.

Rex R. Ryckman

I am concerned & caring 10 year resident of Sumpter Township who feels that the people of Sumpter deserve to have at least two candidates to choose from in the November elections. Maybe some fresh thinking and ideas would be helpful in solving at least some of our Township's problems.

Joan L. Oddy

This community needs strong leadership and individuals who will work to accomplish goals not just talk about it and I am that kind of individual. Government should be operated as a business and I have worked to eliminate waste and implement cost saving measures.

John W. Morgan

I will be able to more effectively utilize my experience, problem solving ability and unique capacity to understand the critical issues that the township will be facing during the next four years. I feel that my performance during my ten years of service on the township board indicates that I am an effective leader with vision, a deep commitment to the improvements of our community and above all, a sincere compassion for the individual.

What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?

Louis P. Banoati

Getting rid of high water, efficient police department, stopping future landfills from coming into township.

Rex R. Ryckman

Sumpter needs to be told more effectively what is going on and why. We need to know that our leaders are listening to our ideas and needs.

Sumpter Township is the garden spot of Wayne County. The problem is nobody knows it. As a result we are portrayed as the County Dump. This image needs to be changed so that we're not the first site selection for the next landfill. Let Sumpter be know for its beauty not its dump.

Joan L. Oddy

Improved police services to combat the serious crime situation that plagues our community. We must have a millage to fund additional manpower and provide updated equipment to be able to protect our residents and their property with immediate response and efficiency. To provide updated equipment and apparel for the Fire Dept.

Keeping the threat of landfill sitings and continued dumping of toxic waste in vacant fields in check.

Continue efforts for improved roads and drainage ditches - through continued meetings with the county we are making some headway but it takes continued efforts to get the necessary work that is a constant sore in the community.

John W. Morgan

The major issues involved in this election are public safety, environmental quality and rubbish pick-up.

He graduated from Belleville High School, attended Eastern Michigan University and earned a B.S. in Business Administration.

He served as Supervisor - Van Buren Charter Township; Trustee - Van Buren School Board; Councilman - City of Belleville.

Cheryl D. Fain

Fain, 42, is married with two children and is a life-long resident of Van Buren. She is a homemaker, and has always served the public in some fashion.

She graduated from Van Buren Public Schools in 1964.

Joann Tadrick

Tadrick, 55, is married with two children and has been a Van Buren resident eight years. She works at Charter Township of Van Buren.

She graduated from Roosevelt High School, attended Schoolcraft College and MSU Kellogg Center for Continuing Education and earned CMC (Certified Municipal Clerk).

She served as Deputy Township Clerk, Charter Township of Van Buren, 1982 to current; Deputy Clerk, City of Inkster, 1970-1980.

Donna L. Hall

Hall, 38, is the mother of one, and has been a Van Buren resident for 14 years. She is an accountant at Donna Hall & Associates.

She graduated from Redford Union High School, attended Schoolcraft College, Wayne County Community College, Eastern Michigan University and is still attending school part time.

She served as Trustee - 1978, 1980 - Clerk, 1982 - Treasure.

Why did you decide to seek this office?

David H. Jacokes

I am seeking the Office of Supervisor in Van Buren Township because I feel that my experience, desire, ability and willingness to work with people will have a direct benefit on Van Buren in the many important situations both now and into the future.

R. Lynn Hamilton

To continue in the many programs we have initiated in the last four years. We are on a roll and I want to keep it going. In the last four years, we have increased the SEV from $205,775,830 to $240,999,350, and anticipate to increase the SEV by at least an additional $11,000,000 by the end of the year.

Cheryl D. Fain

I want to participate on the issues and decisions affecting Van Buren Township. Being a life-long resident of the township, I know that innovative ideas for growth and farsighted solutions to current problems are needed. I am qualified to improve and develop the community in which I was raised and have raised my family.

Joann Tadrick

I have the qualifications and experience for the position of Clerk and I offer them to the voters of the Charter Township of Van Buren to provide the necessary continuity of records management and to keep the flow of information to the community and the Board of Trustees smooth and accurate.

Donna L. Hall

The single most important reason I wish to be returned to office as Treasurer of Van Buren Township is that I love serving the public and I believe I can do the best job of bringing fair, efficient and responsive representation to the citizens of my community.

What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?

David H. Jacokes

Hazardous Waste mangement
Commercial-Industrial Development
Dam Repair Assesment
Road & Drain Repair
Cooperation with Local Government
Responsible Government
Law & Code Enforcement

R. Lynn Hamilton

Public Safety
Economic Growth

Cheryl D. Fain

Landfill - improved monitoring of hazardous and non-hazardous.

Present and future growth of Van Buren Township.

Updating and revising local township ordinances. Many are vague and contain "loopholes". The township attorney, planning and law enforcement authorities could meet to update ordinances.

Joann Tadrick

The growth of our community, has and will continue to provide many priority items. The increase in demand for services created by this growth must be closely monitored to assure that priorities for distribution of revenues are handled in a manner best suited to the needs of the community as a whole.

Donna L. Hall

The top priorities of Van Buren Township are Waste Management, Sewer expansion and proper Police and Fire Protection. I would strive for alternative funding and work with the leaders in each department to provide the best service and promote increase of public awareness of crime. safety and prevention.

Robert O'Keefe

O'Keefe, 48, is married with two children and has been a Van Buren resident for 8 years.

He graduated from Redford Cass Tech. High School in 1957.

Why did you decide to seek this office?

Helen Foster

I have a strong, personal commitment to Van Buren Township. The residents and businesses here truly care about their community. I see Van Buren as a quality community, a superb community. The citizens deserve the accountable, effective management performance I have demonstrated. My graduate and undergraduate education, qualifications, are important to responsible local government. I have a genuine dedication to our citizens and our future.

Patricia A. Birbeck

I am seeking the office of Treasurer of Van Buren Township because I have a strong desire to serve my community. I want to be a part of this township's future and to help create a secure and economically sound community for my children and my children's children to continue to live in. I would serve the residents of the community with the same loyalty and dedication that I have to my family.

John C. Cicotte

I have strong desire to serve my community. Now that I am retired, I will have more time to dedicate to it.

I would like to work with the board on the future growth of Van Buren and to help with a well planned development that we can all be proud of.

Diane Melvin

Because I would like to see Van Buren Township develop smoothly and in a planned fashion. We need an even balance between business, industry and residential growth.

James Sayre

When some of the present incumbents decided not to seek re-election, friends and neighbors urged me to run.

Walter S. Rockwiak

I have good leadership qualities as demonstrated in Farm Bureau and other organizations. The development of our township has not lived up to mine of many other people's expectations. The control of the landfill has become a fiasco.

George A. Heifner

Many years of public service-political experience have taught me that you must return to your community what you take our of it. We have a beautiful, viable township and I feel I have served it well in the past....however, like President Reagan recently said, "there is so much more to do", and I agree with him whole heartily... there is! I want to be part of it.

Daniel T. O'Brien

N/A

Robert O'Keefe

I have been very active in local V.B. for about 4 1/2 years. I have a the ability to positively influence the community on issues that do not directly affect me. My interest is no self-serving, I generally care for V.B. Twp. and the people who live there. It is to my family a real nice place to live. Many people outside of local government have suggested that I run, most importantly my wife & family.

What do you feel are the major issues in this election, and what are your opinions of each?

Helen Foster

Well planned quality development which values our existing community assets and creates the best possible use of privately owned area is also a priority. Planning and zoning must be up to date, sound, and complete.

Due to regulatory and financial controls available to the County, State, and Federal agencies, we must be prepared to face many challenges on behalf of Van Buren. This township needs to thoroughly understand the "outside" (County, State, Federal) permitting/regulatory procedures. We must know their process and make further inroads through their own convoluted system.

Patricia A. Birbeck

One of the top priorities of Van Buren Township is to monitor the business growth. We have to make sure that the growth in residential areas coincide with the growth in business. If there are no people, the business will have no customers. The growth should also have a positive impact on the residents that are already here and we should listen to their fight.

John C. Cicotte

Wayne disposal dump site. I would attempt to work closer with Federal & State officials and C.P.A. to close monitor what is going into the landfill.

The business growth is out of balance with the residential growth. I would seek help to achieve a better balance of industrial, small business and residential growth by attracting developers. To do this we must clean our drains and then improve our roads.

Diane Melvin

Security – increased police patrol in our community.

Roads – extensive improvement of our roads and drains.

Sewers – expansion throughout the township.

James Sayre

Making sure there are no more landfills in Van Buren.

Development is coming to V.B. We need to make sure it is balanced between desirable housing and commercial and industry to support the housing.

Van Buren is a business. It should be run like a business.

Walter S. Rockwiak

Landfill - have it totally controlled by the township, as opposed to the three month inspection by DNR.

Housing Development - Single dwelling homes should become a major project in this community.

Industrial Growth - We sit behind two major airports and our industrial growth is minor compared to Canton and Romulus.

George A. Heifner

Toxic waste is a national as well as a local, deplorable problem. We have employed an environmental expert, who is knowledgeable. We don't need anymore landfills. It's time to get tough....

Growth. Our land use plan is being updated. We must have a viable balance of industrial, commercial and residential development.

Communications continue to be a problem. The present administration is doing an outside job... but only we and our immediate associates know it. I will assure a publication and distribution periodically to the residents.

Daniel T. O'Brien

N/A

Robert O'Keefe

Dumps/Toxic Solid Waste – I would seek to locally control or to close it if it cannot be run in a fashion to not funding public health safety and welfare.

Roads – Paving, resurfacing, widening are being done.

Proposals: Voters decide fate of issues at many levels

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Voters in western Wayne County heading to the polls Nov. 8 will find a confusing array of ballot issues facing them.

Following is a synopsis of the ballot issues on the county, state and local levels:

Wayne County Proposals

■ Gambling – A proposal to prohibit gambling throughout the entire county, in the face of a recent rejection by Detroit voters of the gambling issue.

The gambling proposal asks voters, "If any form of gambling is prohibited in Detroit, the county seat, should that ban extend throughout the county?"

■ Special-education millage – The Wayne County Intermediate School District is seeking an annual tax rate increase of 1 mill for special-education funding in Wayne County.

Proponents of the millage say shortfalls in Act 18 revenue are becoming increasingly inadequate to meet center program costs.

Opponents say it is one more tax increase they don't need.

State proposals

■ Proposal A – This proposal would restrict use of tax funds for abortion for people receiving public assistance. Adversaries of the proposal say it will cost the state millions in increased welfare costs, as unwanted children will have to be supported by the state. They say it would limit health benefits, such as abortion, to those who could afford it.

Proponents of the proposal call tax-funded abortion a "misuse of tax dollars" and claim that not one state which has ended the practice has experienced a significant increase in welfare costs.

■ Proposal B – This proposal would include crime victims' rights in the state Constitution. The crime victims' rights, as worded in the proposal, would be the right to be treated with fairness and respect, be reasonably protected from the accused, be notified of court proceedings, attend trials, confer with prosecution and make a statement to the court during sentencing proceedings.

The proposal would also provide that information regarding conviction, sentencing, imprisonment and release of the accused be given to the victim.

■ Proposal C – One of two proposals (C and D) providing $800 million for a comprehensive environmental bonding package. Proposal C would provide $660 million to protect the environment. Of the $660 million targeted for the environment, $425 would be spent on the cleanup of toxic waste sites in the state, $150 million would be spent for solid-waste disposal projects, $60 million would go toward the upgrading or building of sewage treatment facilities in the state and $25 million would be targeted for protecting the environmental integrity of the Great Lakes.

The bonding issue would not result in a tax increase.

■ Proposal D – The second part of the environmental bond issue would provide $140 million for recreational needs, an amount to be split evenly between the upgrading of the state park system and the financing of local, tourism-related community parks and programs.

Local proposals

■ In Canton Township, voters will be asked to approve a 1.2-mill tax levy to build and operate a $7.9 million multi-use community center.

The proposed multi-use center would be approximately 78,000 square feet in size. Major features of the facility include a 25-meter swimming pool, with diving area, multi-use gymnasium, running track, dance rooms, activity rooms, meeting rooms, exercise rooms, senior citizen area and a preschool area.

■ In Van Buren Township, voters will be asked to support a five-year, 1-mill increase for the operation of the police department (Proposal 1) and a five-year, 1-mill increase for the operation of the fire department (Proposal 2).

■ In Romulus, voters are being asked to support a one-year, 4.5-mill increase in the levy for generation operations of the Romulus Community Schools for the 1988-89 school year and a two-year, 2-mill increase for the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years.

School officials have said that the tax increases will not cost the voters any extra money, because school officials will reduce the district debt-retirement levy by 4.5 mills in 1988-89 and 2 mills in 1989-90 and 1990-91 if the millage issue is approved.

■ In Sumpter Township, voters are being asked to support a four-year, 2.5-mill tax increase for police protection (Proposal 1) and a three-year, 1-mill tax increase for an environmental protection fund (Proposal 2).

Voters can plan for 1992 election

Voters heading to the polls Nov. 8 will be given the opportunity to declare their political-party preference, as part of the Presidential Primary Law, which took effect Sept. 1 in Michigan.

Under Public Act 275, Michigan will be the site of a closed presidential primary, to allow voters to participate in the presidential nomination process. The new law requires voters to declare a political-party preference to be eligible to vote in the presidential primary.

Voters who do not declare their political-party preference at least 30 days before the presidential primary will not be allowed to vote in the primary. The presidential primary, which will be staged the third Tuesday of March in presidential-election years, will be staged for the first time in Michigan March 17, 1992.

The form requests the voter's name, address, county and city or township of residence and date of birth. It also requests the voter's driver license or personal-identification card number. However, declaration of that number is not required in order to vote in the primary.

Voters must declare that they are Democratic, Republican or have no party preference.

Local workers are backbone of campaigns

Names such as George Bush and Michael Dukakis are in the news daily. Their political campaigns are watched and attacked, as are their platforms and ideals.

But neither candidate could expect even marginal support without the names that aren't in the news often. Yes, the Laura Bodells, the Frank Moores, Shirley Gilberts and Milton Kolarovs. It is these people who are the backbone of the national campaigns, and it is these behind-the-scenes election workers who deserve a spot in the limelight.

We canvassed the area recently and found a group of hard-working, behind-the-scenes elections workers worthy of recognition and praise. True, all eyes won't turn when these folks walk in the room –as they would for George Bush or Michael Dukakis – but it is these workers who truly deserve the credit for a never-ending political campaign.

Student stumps for senator

Laura Bodell, a senior at Plymouth-Canton High School, is a campaign volunteer for state Sen. Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor).

As such, Bodell often finds her free time filled with rolls of paper, paint and telephone interviews.

Working behind the scenes during a general election can be tedious and unrewarding in the material sense, but all that is balanced off, Bodell said, by the feeling that election workers are part of an effort that will hopefully change society for the better.

"I love it," Bodell said. "I love it because women don't have a lot of representation in Congress."

Bodell began working for Pollack approximately one month ago, following a rally which she attended with fellow student Kim Kessler. Bodell was so impressed by what she observed, she immediately volunteered to help.

As part of her duties, she has helped to conduct a voter-identification drive, using the telephone.

"We called the voters, asking them, "Are you a Democrat or a Republican?' " she said. "We also asked them, "Are you planning on supporting Lana Pollack?' "

How many voters did the volunteers call?

"Twenty-five thousand," Bodell said.

Her votes aren't absent

Pat Stuky, of Van Buren Township, is one of the few individuals who can boast that she votes more than once – legally – in every election.

Stuky, the chairman of an absentee-voter precinct, casts multiple votes to record the selections submitted on the absentee ballots. She and the five other women, who work on the absentee ballot count, are careful to record each vote accurately and confidentially to ensure the voters' right to a secret ballot.

Although she has been an election worker for only 14 years, Stuky is introduced by Van Buren Township Clerk Delphine Dudick as the worker "with 100 years of experience." Dudick praised Stuky for her excellent work and ability to handle the difficult task of the absentee counting – "the toughest job" at the polls.

Stuky's work is different from that conducted in the regular polling precincts, she said, because the workers are locked in the absentee ballot room until the polls are officially closed.

"A police officer takes our lunch order and delivers it to us," Stuky said. "Years ago, we had to call for a police escort to bring us to the rest room, but, now, we have one available."

Stucky noted that, in this election, the ballot will consist of six separate pieces of paper. After she receives the ballots from the township clerk, Stuky and her staff will verify that all six pieces of each ballot are there. If not, she will note which section is missing – each ballot piece must be accounted for in the election poll book.

The election workers also must list everyone who received and returned an absentee ballot and "account for every piece of paper sent out," Stuky said, adding that, after the number of ballot pieces are verified, the voting number is torn off the ballot so that the voters cannot be identified.

The ballots are verified, counted and sealed before the election workers' day is completed.

One of Stuky's most unpleasant tasks is to invalidate a ballot or part of a ballot, she said.

"During the primary, most of the mistakes are made by people who incorrectly split their ticket or who cast a write-in vote but fail to mark an 'X' by the name," Stuky said. "Now, we can accept a check mark as valid, but, at one time, those had to be invalidated.

Stuky, a 25-year township resident, had only once voted by absentee ballot before she took her post in 1974. Consequently, she was surprised to learn how much is involved in the casting and tabulating of the absentee ballots.

"It's fascinating," Stuky said. "I've always been interested in government, and I enjoy this very much."

Voting times have changed

Milton Kolarov remembers when ballots were counted by hand.

"That's when we used to have to stay up all night long," said Kolarov, who has spent more than 10 years working on election day, including four years as precinct chairperson at Hoover Elementary School, in Wayne.

But times have changed.

"These days, we use a punch ballot," he said. "And all we do is collect them at the end of the election and put them into a computer.

"It's much easier and doesn't take very long."

As a precinct chairperson, Kolarov is responsible for several election-day duties, including awakening early.

"We arrive at city hall around 6 a.m. and pick up materials, such as poll books, a registration voting list and other things we need to operate an election," Kolarov said.

"The Department of Public Works will bring the machines over, and we set them up."

Then, the day begins.

Government: Voters are not aware of American system

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Americans, in general, are starting to know less and less about the government which serves them.

Some local educators blame the political parties for providing a lack of information during crucial election years.

In his book titled Cultural Literacy, author E.D. Hirsch Jr. cites the following example of "youthful ignorance" in the area of American civics.

"I have not yet found one single student in Los Angeles, in either college or high school, who could tell me the years when World War II was fought.

"Only two could approximately identify Thomas Jefferson. Only one could place the date of the Declaration of Independence. None could name even one of the first 10 amendments to the Constitution or connect them with the Bill of Rights . . . ."

Hirsch further cited a 1978 report by the National Assessment of Educational Progress which showed that "children's knowledge of American civics had dropped significantly between 1969 and 1976."

Ron Brown, professor of political science at Eastern Michigan University, said that less than 10 percent of the American public knows about delegates or the electoral college.

"People are taught all that," he said, "but they don't retain it."

Brown said that, although most people remain ignorant of the subtleties of the election process, most voters do have enough information to make a rational choice.

"Television could be a good source of information for the electorate," Brown said, "but the candidates and the political parties don't use it as effectively as they could.

"During this election, there has been no information given by either presidential candidate," he continued. "There's been a lot of negative campaigning."

In terms of general interest in public affairs, in 1986, 24 percent of all Americans said they follow what's going on in government "only now and then," and 35 percent said they follow what's going on "some of the time," according to poll by American National Election Studies, Center for Political Studies, Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan.

In the same poll, 33 percent of the respondents said they were "not much interested" in the current campaign, 44 percent said they were "somewhat interested," and 23 percent said they were "very much interested."

At Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, students are very interested in identifying the candidates and the issues surrounding the upcoming Nov. 8 general election.

Audrey Etienne, a social studies teacher at Plymouth-Canton High School, encourages her students to learn as much as they can about government.

"People should be involved, be part of the system," Etienne said. "In the last school millage election, the voter turnout was 10 to 15 percent," she continued. "The best we get is 50 to 60 percent. Obviously, we have a great deal of apathy. Apathy doesn't breed democracy."

Students in Mike McCauley's government class, at Plymouth-Canton, don't have a chance to become apathetic. McCauley oversees a program called "Close Up," which gives students the opportunity to become intimately associated with all aspects of government, good or otherwise.

"We went over everything that's in government and politics," said Dave Mickel, one of McCauley's students. "We look at state, local and the federal government. The highlight is going to Washington, D.C. We got to see the libraries, our representatives, the Congress, the Senate."

McCauley invites guest speakers to the classroom, including individuals representing local government and individuals espousing less commonly known philosophies, such as Socialism and Communism.

"By the time they get done with me, they're real informed," said Brooke Disbrow, social studies teacher at Plymouth-Salem. "We discuss Congress, the presidency, the judicial branch. I talk some about state government. We do a big thing on local government."

Election

Kolarov, one of five inspectors at Hoover, is responsible for the other inspectors and makes sure everything runs smoothly.

He is also there to make sure people are in the right places.

"During a light election, we have around 15 people who aren't allowed to vote because they are at the wrong precinct," he said.

"I expect at least 50 this year, because it's a presidential election."

Decades of voting service

It is the man and woman behind the scenes that make our system work.

One such person is Doris Lyons.

For nearly one-quarter of a century, Lyons has been ready to serve the electorate of the city of Inkster. First, she was a precinct inspector. Now, she is a chairman.

"I love people, and I love to get involved," said Lyons, widow of the former political activist and union leader, Ernest Lyons. "Elections have always fascinated me. But one thing that's so discouraging is that few of us participate in the election process.

"It's a right that some take for granted, and it's unfortunate some voters don't realize that their vote does count."

As a precinct chairman, Lyons is responsible for the voting machines, to see that they are functioning properly and, if there are any challenges, to be ready to come up with answers.

During a 25-year span when she has served at voting precincts, Lyons said she has never encountered any serious problems.

"People are sometimes frustrated or nervous, but it's nothing that you can't work out. The system is simple, and that's what's good about it," she said.

Road clerk is essential

On election day, the work begins at approximately 5:30 a.m. and continues into the night for a road clerk.

"They are a big part of the election. They are always around and available when needed," said Linda Choate, Romulus city clerk.

Shirley Gilbert, road clerk for Romulus, explained that her job, essentially, is to help ensure that each precinct runs smoothly on election day.

Next Tuesday, Gilbert and two other road clerks will arrive at Romulus City Hall by 5:30 a.m. to supply the election chairmen with poll books, which are lists of the registered voters in the city.

The remainder of their day will include trips back and forth to the 19 standing precincts in Romulus, Gilbert said.

Road clerks make sure voting machines are working properly – sometimes, repairmen are called in when a swift kick does not help – and keep precincts well supplied with materials.

"It's interesting. You meet a lot of different people," she said. "I think anybody can handle it."

Politics is inherited

Politics and community activism, in general, are in one Westland senior citizen's blood.

Frank Moore, 74, first became active in politics when the late "Soapy" Williams ran for governor. Since that time, he and his wife, Julie, have remained active.

"This is a great country, and I help in any way I can," Moore said.

Moore is a Canadian by birth, but he is a naturalized American citizen.

He does everything he can to help with elections, by showing support for the side he believes in most. Moore stuffs envelopes with campaign literature. He seals and labels the envelopes. He takes telephone calls and goes door to door, delivering news from his candidates.

Moore doesn't just work for the guy at the top of the political ladder, but he shows support for each person on every wrung.

Moore and his wife head for the campaign headquarters first thing in the morning and remain there the entire day – doing whatever needs to be done.

"I like to keep busy, and this is a worthwhile way to do that," Moore said.

MEXICO'S CANCUN ISLAND

It's hard to imagine that Cancun, located at the Yucatan Peninsula's northeastern tip, was a deserted sandbar in the early 1970's. Today, this 14-mile long island is the biggest, glitteriest, and most sophisticated resort area along Mexico's Caribbean Coast. Cancun's prime assets are its sunshine and spectacular location, cradled between the Caribbean and lazy lagoon. You can dine at a different restaurant and dance at a different disco every night of the week.

Seven dozen hotels, many resembling sleek, 20th century pyramids, line the broad avenue that runs the length of the island. You don't need a rental car. Modern busses circuit the island every 20 minutes and cabs are a bargain. Since all beaches in Mexico are public, you can stay anywhere and enjoy the sand and surf.

Most island hotels have swimming pools; many have tennis courts. A golf course is centrally located. Cancun is a convenient and enjoyable location for your Yucatan exploration.

Many hotels re-opened on October 1 and almost all expect to be back inoperation by November 1. Three night packages start as low as $299.

Food

Calling all cooks for contest . . .

Wouldn't you just as soon watch television while you cook? And couldn't we all use a health club membership to work off a few of the excess pounds we put on while sampling some of the holiday treats we create for our loved ones? Yep, that's what I thought, too, so this year the Associated Newspapers Annual Holiday Cooking Contest is offering really great rewards for the best cooks in the area.

We will be accepting holiday recipes (which we will test) until close of business Nov. 9 at our offices. Cooks can drop off the instructions for their favorite holiday treats or mail them to us. We will offer first, second and third place prizes and all the recipes submitted will be printed in our special holiday cooking section Nov. 16. That means there isn't much time to find that favorite recipe for the holiday main dish, salad, dessert or miscellaneous item that may win one of these great prizes. Not to mention the fame and accolades which accompany winning.

So, right now, put on your thinking cap and write that best-ever recipe down and send it to us. We're waiting with buttered baking pans to try whatever you send us. And, we do need some time to do it.

In the meantime, I'll share one of my favorite holiday treats with you. It's not my all-time favorite, but it has won me friends and influenced people for many years. And don't try sending me this one for the contest...I'll recognize it. Hurry now, I'm waiting at the mailbox and if you don't send recipes, my disappointment will result in me keeping the television, the health club membership and the flowers and dinner at Charley's in Wayne. DO IT NOW.

And save this cake recipe. It's a real jewel, especially if you sample a little of the bourbon to make the preparation less tedious. Actually, it isn't really a cake, but more like a mousse. It is very, very rich and it is perfect for a large crowd during the holidays.

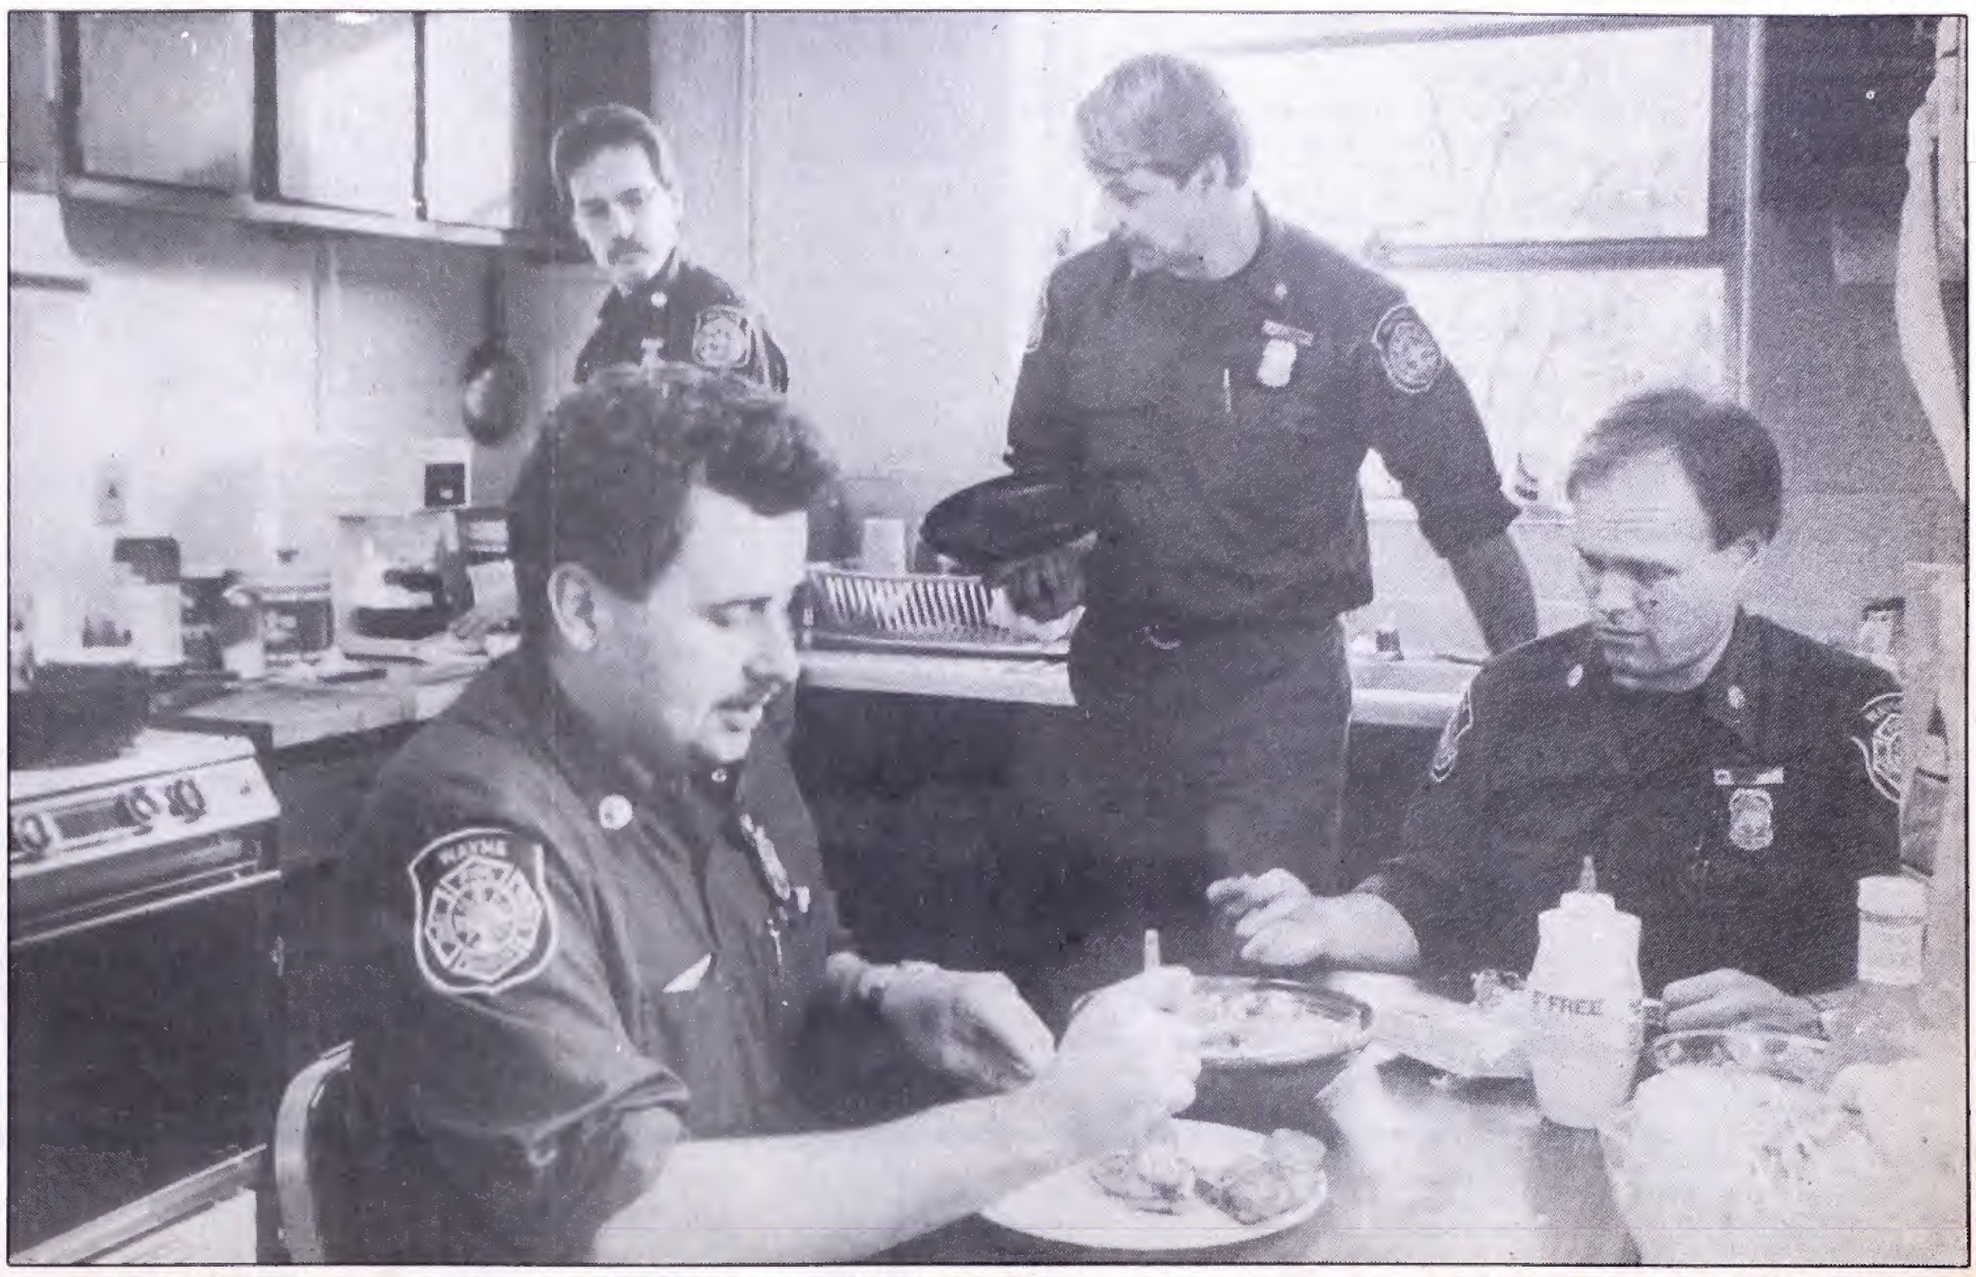
Chocolate bourbon cake

2 cups butter
1 cup sugar
1 cup powdered sugar
1 dozen eggs, separated
4 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup chopped pecans (or almonds)
1 dozen double ladyfingers
1 pound dry Italian macaroons (approximately 4 dozen), broken and soaked in 1 cup bourbon
1 1/2 cups heavy cream, whipped

Cream butter and sugars until light and fluffy. Beat egg yolks until light and blend into butter mixture. Beat in chocolate, add vanilla and nuts. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, fold into chocolate mixture. Line a 10-inch springform pan around sides and bottom with split ladyfingers. Alternate layers of soaked macaroons and choclate mixture over ladyfingers. Chill overnight. Remove sides of springform pan and cover top with whipped cream. If it is frozen, add whipped cream after defrosting.



▲ There may be only four burners on the stove at the Wayne fire station, but that doesn't prevent a group of hungry firefighters from preparing dinner. FIGHTING FIRES BEGINS IN KITCHEN

Firefighters are also master cooks

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

By 5 p.m., the kitchen in the Wayne Fire Department is comfortably cluttered with bags of groceries, boxes of muffin mix, simmering vegtables and six firemen battling for a burner.

Whether the men cook individual meals or prepare something for the whole shift, fire-station cooking is never boring.

One challenge for the six men is sharing one oven with a six-burner stove when each decides to prepare his own meal.

"If anyone has a six-burner stove for sale, we'd be interested," said Lt. Fred Gill, jokingly.

Nevertheless, the men have not found sharing the kitchen to be a "real problem."

"If you can't work in close quarters with each other, you can't do a job like this," he said.

Some days, the challenge is more in the eating than the preparing of meals. Gill recalled one beginner who tried to make his wife's recipe for chicken and dumplings for the whole shift. The chicken was all right, but he ended with one huge dumpling.

Most of the group meals at the station are prepared on weekends and holidays. Every Saturday, someone prepares a brunch, complete with traditional eggs, pancakes, bacon and hash browns.

After the experience of preparing meals for others and sharing a relatively small kitchen, the staff members have developed a certain wisdom about cooking.

What's necessary for success when cooking for others?

"Patience and the ability to take constructive criticism lightly," said fireman Rob Dahlman.

Gill is conscious about not overseasoning the food, since it must satisfy a variety of tastes.

He also suggests "keeping it simple."

Most of the men borrow recipes that have been handed down in their families or used by their wives. In the summer, recipes using the men's gas grill are especially popular.

Other popular recipes are those supplied by the sportsmen in the group who occasionally bring in fish they've caught, or venison. One of those recipes follows.

Venison

2 pounds venison (neatly trimmed, cut in bite-size pieces)
2 green peppers (cut in large pieces)
1 Spanish onion (cut in large pieces)
1 large can chunked pineapple (drained)
1 bottle sweet and sour sauce
Rice

Before starting, marinate venison to taste in equal parts of soy sauce and Italian dressing.

Brown venison in margarine or butter in large pan. Drain off excess liquid. Add green pepper and onion, stirring occasionally. Add pineapple and stir in sweet-and-sour sauce. Spread over bed of rice. Season to taste. Recipe also works well with chicken or beef.

The following recipes have been contributed by Alex Stevenson, of the Inkster Fire Department. Usually, the men from his shift "elect" a different cook each day based on the cook's specialty, the men's cravings and the amount of money available for groceries.

Enchaladas

2 pounds gound beef
2 finely chopped onions
2 mild chilli peppers, cut into small pieces
1 14-ounce can stewed tomatoes
Dash of cumin
1 14-ounce can pinto beans
4 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 cup catsup
1 tablespoon chilli powder
2 tablespoons flour
12 flour tortillas
1 pound grated cheese

Saute 1/2 chilli pepper, 1/3 onion until tender in large skillet. Add beef. Cook until brown. In separate pan, heat beans in 2 tablespoons of hot oil. Add catsup, chili powder, 2 tablespoons water. Bring to boil until beans break down. Set aside. On flat tortillas, spread meat mixture on one half, bean mixture on the other half. Fold closed. Place in greased Dutch oven, cover with sauce and grated cheese. If desired, also top with crushed tortilla chips. Bake at 350 degrees 30 minutes.

For sauce, heat, in 2 tablespoons oil, remaining chilli pepper, onion, flour and stewed tomatoes. Simmer 10 to 15 minutes.

Sweet and sour chicken

Equal parts of the following for sauce:

Water
Vinegar
Sugar
Catsup
3 chickens (boned, cut in bite-size pieces)
1 cup flour
1 package frozen oriental vegetables (cooked and drained)

Lightly bread chicken pieces in flour (add seasoning to flour according to taste). Stir fry in wok or frying pan on high heat. When chicken pieces are tender, spread over bed of rice. Spread hot oriental vegetables on chicken. Then, pour on heated sauce mixture.

Hot croissant sandwich

1 croissant
Oven-safe plate
Tomato slices
Strips of ham, turkey, bacon
Strips of monterey, Swiss cheese

Place croissant on oven-proof plate. Cover with thin slices of meat and cheese. Cook in 350-degree oven for approximately 5 minutes. Cheese should begin to melt. Top with blue cheese.

This recipe is from the Westland Fire Department.

JUST MARRIED

Hall – Day

Deborah K. Hall and Raymond F. Day, both of Garden City, were united in marriage July 9 at St. Matthew Lutheran Church, in Westland. The Rev. Ralph Fischer officiated during the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mary Hall, of Garden City, and Daniel Hall, of Westland. She is a graduate of the Detroit College of Business, where she earned an associate's degree in business administration, and Garden City High School. She works as the administrative assistant to the general manager of The Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Dearborn.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Day, of Garden City. He is a graduate of Wayne State University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in mass communications, and Garden City High School. He works as the managing editor of the Associated Newspapers, in Wayne.

The church was decorated with candles and bows on the aisle pews and two altar centerpieces for the candlelight.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Day evening ceremony. Music was provided by Corinne Lehman on the organ and Paul Lehman, soloist. Featured songs during the ceremony included The Wedding Song, The Wedding Prayer and Sometimes.

The bride wore a white, satin gown, with bodice of lace appliques, pearls and sequins. Her sleeves were slightly puffed and beaded. The gown was cathedral-length, accented by many layers of satin ruffles.

Her veil was tiara-style, with pearls on the crown and flowers accenting the left side. She carried an English-oval bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and freesia, accented by pearls and white ribbons.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Beth Hall, of Garden City, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Christine Neslund, of Detroit, and Julie Lynn, of Farmington Hills. Flowergirl was Peggy Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Day, of Westland.

Best man for the occasion was Steve Day, the groom's brother. Groomsmen included Bob Dunnigan, of Garden City, and Ken Carr, of Canton Township. Ringbearer was Daniel Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Stephens, of West Branch.

A rehearsal dinner was staged at Amantea restaurant, in Garden City, July 7.

The two traveled to California for a two-week honeymoon. They have made their new home in Westland.

ARE YOU A SHOWTIME KID?

Are you between 6 - 14 years old? Can you be as "natural" in front of a camera as you are with your friends: Then you should audition for SHOWTIME'S 4th Annual Kid Talent Quest.

The audition consists of reading a short script, answering two questions, and doing a short free-style performance in front of a video camera. (Song, dance or jokes - bring accompanying music on cassette tape only.)

SHOWTIME'S judges will select four (4) SHOWTIME Kids nationally. These SHOWTIME Kids win a guest host spot on SHOWTIME'S FAMILYTIME Program, and a trip to New York City with their parents to tape the shows and to see the Big Apple.

You could be a winner! All it takes to audition is to show up at WESTLAND CENTER, corner of Warren & Wayne Roads, on Sunday, November 6th and register in the Central Court at 11:00 am.

WESTLAND CENTER

Managed by The Center Companies

All kids must be accompanied by an adult. Parental consent required. No purchase necessary to compete in this Kid TalentQuest. Individuals who have been paid performers on national television, motion pictures, radio and national print advertising are not eligible to enter. Certain other restrictions apply.
